Dr. Wekerle and the other members of the retiring ministry returned from Vi-enna at 9 o'clock tonight, and were received by the people with an enthusiasm resembling that during the recent ceremo-nies in honor of the late Louis Kossuth. Fully seventy thousand persons were gathriages were waiting and the party started toward the Liberal Club. The carriages proceeded amid continuous shouting and cheering. ered in the vicinity of the station. Caron arriving at the club, a fresh ovation

On arriving at the club, a fresh ovation awaited Dr. Wekerle. A number of ladies stood at the entrance of the building and showered flowers upon him as he entered, and a crowd of students carrying flags, greeted him with songs.

'In the House of Magnates today it was decided to adjourn the debate on the demand of the Lower House in regard to the introduction of the Civil Marriage bill until the Cabinet crisis shall have been settled. Count Hedervary made his acceptance of office conditional upon the programme of his predecessor, Dr. Wakerle, being maintained in its entirety and insisting that the proposed ecclesiastical reforms are to be carried out at once without any modification.

Immense Damage Along the Columbia River.

Break Imminent in the Missouri Government Levee.

Damage Around Idaho Springs, Colo.—Two Thousand Pamilies Homeless Along the Frazer River-Denver in Sonk.

PORTLAND (Or.,) June 1.- The flood in the Columbia continues to increase and the indications are that the worst is yet reports today show that the river is again rising about one foot in twenty-four hours. The river is more than a foot higher than ever before known and the damag will be immense. The fertile bottom-lands along the river from the Rocky Mountains to the sea, a distance of 600 miles, are all inundated. Crops are ruined, houses washed away and stock drowned. The flood has come gradually, which has given residents an opportunity to move house-hold goods to places of safety, and in most instances stock has been driven to higher

The salmon-canning business has been ning establishments along the river for distance of 200 miles are under water. It is estimated by cannerymen that the loss so far will exceed $100,000. Telegraph communication to the North and East is cut off except by a roundabout way.

For miles and miles along the river the water has risen over the tops of telegraph poles. Along the Union Pacific from this city to Umatilla, about twenty miles of track is under water. They have established steamboat service, which enables them to carry the mails and passengers. The Northern Pacific does not attempt to operate lines between this city and Goble a distance of forty miles, but makes connection by the large transfer boat. In this city, the water has risen into basements as city the water has risen into basements as far as Ninth street and more than half the elevators in the city are stopped for want elevators in the city are stopped for want of power.

Today's mail from The Dalles brings the information that the government locks at The Cascades are in danger. About four thundred sacks filled with sand were sent from The Dalles to the locks, where they will be used to stop any breaks that may occur in the dam being constructed around the head of the locks. The water is within four feet of the top of 'the breakwater. Should a break occur, the entire works would be destroyed unless the immense granite heads for the gates should hold. Sauvie's Island, a few miles below Portland, is almost entirely under water. Many buildings have been lifted from their foundation and set afloat. Crops are ruined and other property is, seriously damaged. The inhabitants have nearly all fied to the higher ground. Those that remain are living in the second stories of their houses. The damage on the island will probably amount to $250,000.

GOING DOWN.

GOING DOWN. PUEBLO (Colo.,) June 1.—The rain ceased about midnight, and the river is now going down rapidly. A large force of men was put to work by the city cut-ting through the levee, to drain off the water. Only two bodies have been recovered. Five persons are known to be drowned. The loss to business firms is estimated at $100,000. The loss to the railroads in bridges and tracks is very

DENVER. June 1.-The Platte River continued to rise until 3 o'clock this morning and a raging torrent was rushing ing, and a raging torrent was rusning through the city. In Jerome Park, Colfax and the river bottoms districts, in the city, 350 families were compelled to flee to higher ground. One boy was drowned. The embankment and railroad trackers were becaused when the contract of the contract o tracks were washed away in several places. The damage is not heavy, but places. The damage is not heavy, but the inconvenience is great.

It will be several days before trains can run on schedule time. There are serious washouts on the Rio Grande and Santa Fe roads. Thirty miles of the South Park road, in Platte Canyon, was inundated. The loss to roads is the heaviest ever experienced in this State.

Five hundred families were made homeless by the flood in and around Denver. Over one hundred persons have applied to the County Commissioners for aid. Forty families are imprisoned in the schoolhouse at Jerome, but are not thought to be in danger.

HUNDREDS OF BURIED FARMS. TACOMA, June 1.—Ninety-five miles of Northern Pacific track, between Horse Plains, Mont., and Hope, Idaho, are under water. Definite flood news was received late this evening on arrival of three delayed Northern Pacific overlands. Col. F. D. Huestes, the railroad builder, was a passenger. He says the water was still rising when the train left Hope yesterday. Hundreds of farms along Clark's Fork, never overflowed before, are devastated under four to six feet of water. Settlers rushed to the highlands, but hundreds of cettle and horserushed to the highlands, but hundreds of cattle and horses were drowned. Some bridges have been washed out, but these are repaired and trains will run as usual when the waters subside. The overland, due Saturday, has been abandoned at Horse Plains, Mont. Seven worktrains, with full crews, are repairing the track in that vicinity.

Overland traffic on the Great Northern is suspended on account of a great wash.

Overland traffic on the Great Northern is suspended on account of a great washout west of Great Falls, Mont. The Canadian Pacific road today began transfering passengers by steamer on the Fraser River from Ruby to Mission, a distance of thirty-nine miles. Between these points there are washouts and portions of the track are under water.

BOULDER CREEK RUNS WILD. BOULDER (Colo.,) June 1.—The pipe-factory, five houses, railroad tracks and all the city and railroad bridges have been washed away by the flood in Bo gone, the Prussian and Corning mills are flooded, and six of their outbuildings have been swept down the canyon. Springdale and Jamestown suffered greatly, but no particulars can be had except that the Springdale Hotel is in ruins. Several other small towns along the canyon have been partly destroyed, but nothing definite regarding the losses can be had until communication with these districts has been re-established.

AWFUL RUIN.

VANCOUVER (B. C.,) June 1.—The Fraser River is three inches above the highest historical mark. The flood is still rising. Fraser Valley for over one hundred miles is devastated. It is estimated that over two thousand families are homeless, and that the property loss is $3,000,000. Though no more lives have been lost, there have been many narrow escapes.

The flood will stop all farming operations along the Fraser this season. The natural result will be fearful trade depression at New Westminster and Vancouver.

GOVERNMENT WORKS DESTROYED. ST. JOSEPH (Mo.,) June 1.-There is ST. JOSEPH (Mo.,) June 1.—There is a break eighty feet wide in the rip-rap work at Belmont Bend on the Missouri River, just west of this city. The river is rising and serious damage will follow. This is the place where the government spent several thousand dollars a few years ago, at which time the river threatened to cut through a narrow neck of land and leave this city several miles from the channel. No steps have been taken to repair the break.

IDAHO SPRINGS (Colo.,) June 1.—The damage by the flood in this county is estimated at $100,000. The storm was the estimated at $100,000. The storm was the longest and most disastrous in the history of the oldest inhabitants. On the mountain tops, instead of rain, eighteen inches of snow fell. Almost all the bridges over Clear Creek and other branches have gone; some houses were washed away and mines are flooded. There have been no trains in of out for two days, and there probably will be none for several days yet.

FORCIBLE IRRIGATION. BRIGHTTON (Colo.,) June 1,-The rive at this point, fifteen miles below Denver is gradually rising, and is now one to six is gradually rising, and is now one to six feet deep over thousands of acres of grain, which will be entirely destroyed. The high water has stopped all control of irrigating ditches and they are bursting out and flooding the higher lands.

MINES RUINED. MINES RUINED.

DENVER, June 1..—In many places mines are ruined. The loss in and around Boulder is estimated at $500,000. Boulder has had no communication with any outside point since Wednesday until today, as the telegraph wires were down and roads impassable.

An Anti-income Tax Meeting at New York.

ssociated Press Leased-wire Service.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The business NEW YORK, June 1.—The business, men's meeting in Carnegle Music Hall to protest against the income tax feature of the proposed tariff bill, was notable for the character of the audience, number and enthusiasm of those who attended. The call was signed by nearly five hundred representatives of the largest business interests of the city.

The platform was crowded with gentlemen influential in the business walks of life. Preparations had been made to accommodate the crowds expected, speakers having been selected to address an overflow meeting should the hall prove insufficient. It was something disappointing that the promoters waited for the crowds to come, and the speaking, which was to be-gin at 8 o'clock, was delayed half an hour. At that time the auditorium containe about one thousand people.

Col. William L. Strong, president of the Central National Bank, called the meeting to order and nominated for chair-man President Evan Thomas of the Prod-meeting to order and nominated for chairman President Evan Thomas of the Produce Exchange and for secretary, Edward O. Dwyer of the Democratic Club.

Senător Hill, in his letter of regret at being unable to attend, said: "The effort to incorporate an income tax in the pending measure has delayed a speedy disposition of the tariff subject and induced a surrender of nearly every correct and consistent principle upon which a tariff-reform measure should be based. It is clear that it would not be adopted by Congress if Senators would vote according to their conscientious convictions rather than in pursuance of a dicker and a contemptible promise founded upon no principle.

"It is immaterial whether this scheme is popular or unpopular; or whether it taxes the many for the benefit of the few or the few for the benefit of the many, it is equally indefensible, victous and unreasonable. As a representative, a citizen and a partisan, I have opposed this income, tax fully from the start. I am opposing it now and shall continue my opposition to the end."

Speeches were made by President Waldo Smith of the Wholesale Grocers' Association, Prof. T. Lewis in behalf of the insurance companies, Louis Windmuller of the Reform Club, Frederick Taylor on behalf of the bankers and brokers of Wall street, Lawyer Stern, John P. Townsend of the Bowery Savings Bank, Chairman Evan Thomas and others, all in opposition to the income tax.

AN AGENT'S CRIME.

James Maxwell of the Grand Trunk Railroad Under Arrest. CHICAGO, June 1.—Special Agent James O. Maxwell of the Grand Trunk Rallway is under arrest for being implicated in the fatal shooting on a train last night of George C. Newcomb, assistant special agent of the Western and Indiana Railroad.

Maxwell reported that Newcomb was shot by confidence men. Newcomb says there was a conspiracy between Maxwell, the chief prosecuting agent of the Grand Trunk, and confidence men to rob passengers, and he was shot because he would not join the enterprise.

The Effect of Governor Waite's Lecture Lost

Jury Investigation Fixed for Next Week-The Situation in

CRIPPLE CREEK (Colo.,) June 1.-At The strikers, however, hav redoubled their vigilance in guarding their stronghold on Bull Hill. Four lines of pickets guard every road and trail leading from this city to the mountains, and the guards extend down the Canyon City and Florence roads for a distance of twelve miles. The same is true of the Cheyenne Canyon and Colorado Springs. Pickets are also stationed as far as Midlands, and beyond, and it will be next to impossible for the deputies to surprise the strikers. At Altman, the stronghold of the miner the strictest military rule is enforced.

All the saloons are under lock and key, but by some means some of the strikers procured a small amount of whisky and became slightly intoxicated. "Gen." Johnon, who has charge of the military forces upon being informed of the doings upon being informed or the doings of the men, caused them to be put in the guard-house immediately. The opinion is gener-ally held that the strikers have lost sight of any effect Gov. Waite's visit may have had, and that they intend to fight, as they feel confident of routing the deputies.

Considerable excitement was created today by the appearance of six armed strikers, the first to come into the city, and the subsequent shooting of Smith, a drunken railroad employee by a policeman. Smith will die.

THE GRAND JURY. COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.,) June 1. An order has been issued for a special session of the grand jury on June 8 because of the Cripple Creek affair.

THE ATTACKING FORCES. DIVIDE (Colo.,) June 1.-The deputies DIVIDE (Colo.) June 1.—The deputies were in better spirits today, the sun shining for the first time in three days. Chief Veatch received a telegran from Commissioner Boyton, stating that reinforcements were coming in, and that no move would be made until the party should be large enough to do effective work. Probably no move will be made before Sunday. It is expected that the deputies will number one thousand, and that they will approach the strikers from three different directions.

PURELY STATE ISSUES.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—If the Col-rado people rely upon the national governwashington, June 1.—It the Colorado people rely upon the national government to use its military forces against the Cripple Creek strikers without application in due form from the Governor or Legislature, they will be sorely disappointed. Although no applications for Federal intervention have yet come to the War Department they will be absolutely without result, if they do come. The reason, as explained at the department, is that there is no authority to be found in law for Federal action. The issues involved are regarded as purely State and not national in their present aspect.

The suggestion that the national government might intervene between Gov. Waite and the Sheriff's forces under cover of sec. 5299 of the Revised Statutes was soon disposed of. That statute was framed in reconstruction days to permit the national government to go into a State and protect any of its citizens when they were denied protection by their own State officers. It was embodied in the army regulations, MARCHING ON OTHER CAMPS. WALSENBERG (Colo.,) June 1.—Six hundred striking coal miners are marching south from here, to bring out the miners working at other camps. FEDERAL AID REQUIRED.

DENVER, June 1.—Army officers here believe it will be necessary to call out the regular troops to suppress the in surrection at Cripple Creek. Mining at torneys have addressed the mine-owner to ask President Cleveland to protect their their rights, as the State officers have refused to do so.

A SETTLEMENT IN VIEW.

CLEVELAND, June 1.—A. C. Blair, president of the Wheeling and Lake Erie Coal Company, received a telegram from President McBride, which he believes opens the way to a settlement of the strike. He will not show the telegram, but says it shows a willingness on the part of the miners to negotiate with the operators of Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Blair says that both he and McBride are of the opinion this will force Illinois into line, and, with this backing, the Consolidated Coal Company will not be able to block a settlement.

The Italian labor agent, who brought the men here was assaulted tonight by strikers and terribly beaten. John Stellen was also attacked, but was rescued by a deputy. He was badly disabled, and deputy sheriffs were called from the Valley Plant to take him home. The operators are giving more evidence every day of a determination to run. A special train of new men is expected about midnight.

striking miners and outsiders made no demonstrations today. The Citizens Executive Committee met tonight and selected 200 citizens, to be at the north shaft at 5:30 a.m., in the capacity of deputy sheriffs, to prevent demonstrations. The Citizens' Committee has sworn out a war-rant for McGregor's arrest and trouble is expected in the morning, when an at-tempt is made to serve it.

A CHANCE FOR CALIFORNIA.

New Railroad Rates Said to Be Advantageous Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—A new arrangement in regard to freights for El Paso and Texas will soon be made by the Southern Pacific Company. The schedule of rates to El Paso has been revised in th a way that substantial reductions will be enjoyed by California business men who wish to enter as competitors in the South-rn markets. St. Louis and Kansas City and San Francisco are equally distant from El Paso, which is the key to the markets of Mexico. The roads out of St. Louis and Kansas City have been sending freight to El Paso at rates lower than they charged for intermediate points. This gave the shippers of the East a considerable advantage over the Californians, for the reason that the Southern Pacific held to its regular tariff. As a consequence Mississippi Valley points secured a monopoly of the Mexican trade in many products that would naturally be brought to California, if all were on an equal footing in the matter of freight charges.

The Southern Pacific has given notice that, it will meet the cuts offered by Francisco are equally distant from El Paso, that, it. will meet the cuts offered by the Eastern roads, and that it, too, will afford a lower rate to El Paso than to some of the intermediate points. The new tariff will be made upon the basis of a schedule to include a great many of California's products of the factory, the farm, the orchard and the vineyard.

SACRAMENTO, June 1. — A big libel damage suit for $50,000 damages was com enced in the Superior Court today by F. Thacker, A. H. Thacker and R. F. Edgecomb, doing business under the firm name of Thacker Bros., against E. T. Earl president of the Earl Fruit Company. The parties are rivals in the fruit commission business, and are well known where ever California fruit is sold. For cause of action the plaintiffs allege that their principal place of business is in Chicago, with branches in Sacramento, Los Angeles and Jacksonville. Fla.: that the fendants, with intent to injure the plain tiffs in their good name, reputation and credit, wrote and published false, scandalous and defamatory libels.

The alleged libels were letters and circulars sent to the agents of the Earl Company, setting forth that the firm of Thacker Bros. had been attached in South-ern California and that the house was in bad shape financially.

Two Men Commit a Bold Robbery at Clay

SACRAMENTO, June 1.—The Bee's correspondent writes that on Tuesday night the store at Clay station was robbed. Ed Steele, the clerk, was writing at the desk and a number of residents were sitting in the store, when two men with their faces covered with handkerchiefs, entered with drawn revolvers. One of the robbers covered the citizens and one the clerk. The citizens were made to face the wall. The other robber demanded that Steele give up his money. The latter said he had no money. The robbers then made him open the safe, but securing nothing they opened the till and took $65.

Steele was then made to stand with the others while one of the men searched the store. He took nothing except a bottle of whiskey. The robbers then left, after warning the parties in the store not to look to see which way they went, or they would blow out their brains. the store, when two men with their faces for fast time, but records were again un-molested, though Burke made two atmolested, though Burke made two attempts to shave off a few splinters. The attendance was equal to preceding days, and a more noisy aggregation of cyclers could not assemble on California soil.

Ex-Champion Edwards, C. L. Davis, Oscar Olsen, W. A. Burke and W. M. Jenkins went to the tape at 1:30 o'clock for the final in the one mile open. Burke did donkey work for the first lap, but no one donkey work for the list lap, but he offer would relieve him on the next. Loafing was indulged in and Referee Allen called them off. In the second attempt Grant Bell cut the pace. All rode bunched till the backstretch was reached in the third lap. It was then a magnificent race. Burke and Jenkins fairly ran away from the Northern contingent, and made the mile in 1:24 1-5. Edwards finished fifteen yeards behind Jenkins. Los Angeles wheelmen again broke loose and with cowbells, gongs, double, quadruple and quintuple fish-horns made things hideous. They triumphantly carried Burke and Jenkins past the grand stand. The other racers gracefully accepted their defeat.

After a rub-down, Burke made an attempt at a standing quarter. Edwards and Davis made some hitch in pacing, and the record-seeker beat them out in 0:31. He then went flying over the quarter paced by the same men in 0:30½. He says he was too tired, so he will remain several days to renew the attempt. Parkes, Davis, Fox and Edwards will also remain to pace time and to ride a few trials themselves... The course is being prepared and gold medals have been hung up by the Sweetwater Association for every new record that is established.

The entries in the cup race were: The Los Angeles Wheelmen, Phil Kitchin, Will Jenkins, Thomas McAleer, E. Ulbrecht; the East Side Cycling Club, W. K. Cowan, Charles Cowan, Fred Lacy, Charles Parkes; the Los Angeles Athletic Club, S. G. Joe Long: Riverside Wheelmen, Louis Fox, Jimmle Cowan, Casey Castleman, Carson Shoemaker.

From the pistol shot the Los Angeles boys held the flead. Kitchin and Fox did most of the denkey work, after Shoemaker was knocked out. In the second lap, as the teams were racing for the wire, Pete Poole, the Riverside trainer, went out on the track to throw Jimmle Cowan a sponge. In attempting to evade Shoemaker he collided with a bike and several wheels piled up. The wheels of J. Cowan and Shoemaker, were too badly smashed for further use and, besides, both were considerably bruised. Spier was in the fall, and his left arm was badly injured. He would not quit, but his injuries were such that he could not stay with the bunch, and was lapped in the twenty-fourth mile. D. K. Cowan also fell, but remounted and regained his loss. The time for the twenty-flue miles was slower than it otherwise would have been, had not the Riverside team been so demoralized by the accident. Ulbrech did not come up to expectations and finished last.

The first four positions at the final were: Kitchin, McAleer, Jenkins and Fox. Time by miles was: 2:564, 2:555, 2:55½, 3:02½, 2:57, 3:02, 3:08, 3:06, 3:05, 3:10½, 3:01½, 3:01½, 3:13½, 3:17½, 3:19½, 3:10½, 3:11½, 3:19½, 3:10½, 3:11½, 3:19½, 3:10½, 3:

The great event was the twenty-five-mile-team race, between the Los Angeles the Los Angeles and the Los Angeles and the East Side Cyclers of Los Angeles and the Riverside team. Sixteen men were in line, and the track being in splendid condition speedy work was done. On the beginning of the fourth mile Poole became rattled in front of Jimmie Cowan of Riverside and did not know which way to dodge. He hesitated a second, and at that instant Cowan hit him and rolled over and over. C. Shoemaker, also of the Riverside team, fell over Cowan and hit him in the breast, knocking the wind out of him. Shoemaker was badly bruised and fainted. Two others were thrown, but they resumed their wheels and kept on riding.

they resumed their wheels and kept on riding.

After the race it was found that one of them, S. G. There was no chance for Riverside after the loss of two of her men, and they came in fourth. The result was: Los Angeles first, Los Angeles Athletic Club second, East Side third; time 1 hr., 18½ min.

A Brother in Plety Plays the Ply-paper

A Brother is Plety Plays the Ply-paper Game on His Church.

(Fargo Forum:) A good story comes from a neighboring village, and a report of the ingenuity of man's acquisitiveness may be a pointer for some of those not averse to turning an honest penny—their way. It is reported that a village not far from here is on to a new racket because a certain brother in the fold, who takes an active part in church work, and in whom implicit confidence has been placed by his associates, has been detected of having a piece of sticky fly-paper in his hat when he went to take up the collection at the church. All the coins that dropped upon the fly-paper styaed there, and it was amazing how the big pieces crowded the little ones off.

When the audience had been solicited, this smooth individual would advance and turn his hat upside down over that of another who had been soliciting the audience on the other side of the house. All the coin that dropped belonged to the church, and all that remained in the hat was to remunerate him for the work he had done, so to speak. There is said to be blood on the face of the moon, and the good brother, who has political aspirations, and the ones who caught him in the act are having a time.

The sequel is yet to be written, but when daffodils begin to show their heads through the sun-kissed soil and buds herald the leafy days of springtime, a convocation of wise men and elders of the church is expected to sit on the matter, and—meanwhile druggists who want to sell sticky fly-paper should advertise in the Forum its newly discovered uses.

LABOR TROUBLES.

Grave Truths from One Who Speaks from an Inside View.

LOS ANGELES, May 31.—(To the Editor of The Times.) Colorado, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Alabama are now the victims of riot and bloodshed, and the "Coxey" army "still goes marching on."

So far as it can be ascertained from the news columns of the public iournals. the news columns of the public journals, the leaders in these riots are foreigners, our native-born citizens, even if they have our native-born citizens, even if they have grievances, generally refraining from the destruction of property, and rarely menacing life.

If we inquire into the nationality of these rioters, we are told that they are Huns, Poles or Dagoes.

The labor organizations made a great blunder when they admitted these ignorant brutes among their ranks, for they gave them the sword which can be wielded both ways, and, no matter what excesses these swine may be guilty of, the unions are accused of egging them on in their diabolical work of bloodshed and murder.

on in their diabolical work of bloodshed and murder. It is certain that the unions are, in a and murder.

It is certain that the unions are, in a great measure, responsible for much of the loss of life, and the destruction of property, for if they declare a strike, even in a just cause, the feeling seems to be general among them that the corporation which has been employing them must be crippled by every means in their power.

A poor man, with a dependent family, who has for months been looking for work, if he accepts a job here, is a "scab," and he must be pounded and hounded, and, in some cases, even murdered, for the penalty of being a "scab" or a "rat" is abuse unto death.

A contractor, in putting up a building, employs all the hands he can procure, but he is unfortunate enough to get one bricklayer who does not belong to the union. This is soon discovered by the "walking delegate" on his rounds, and he at once summons the contractor to his august presence. Without any preliminaries, he orders the contractor to discharge this "scab" at once. The trembling contractor undertakes a defense, and states that he is short of hands, that the man is a better workman than ordinary, and has a needy family; that it and states that he is short of hands, that the man is a better workman than ordinary, and has a needy family; that it will cripple him in pushing his contract; but the reply is curt and short: "He must be discharged at once."

There are but two alternatives for the contractor, and these are, to obey this imperative command or have all of his men lay down their tools and refuse to work longer, so the poor non-unionist with his family are committed to starvation.

Here, in this city, if a man wishes to buy a 15-cent faucet, which he can himself apply in a few minutes, he is refused, as the hardware merchants dare not sell it, as they are under the thumbs of the plumbers' union, who alone must furnish and apply it. A plumber can be sent with the faucet and apply, and the would-be purchaser will pay extra for labor, so that it will probably cost him ten times as much as if he bought and applied it himself.

It is true that these labor organizations sometimes accomplish their ends, even in an unrighteous cause, notably so in the case of the strike on the Great Northern, where they compelled President Hill to take back into his employ those strikers who were guilty of destruction of property. He held out for a time against this, but was at last compelled to yield.

Statistics, however, show that with all the strikes which have taken place in this country, the laborer has lost more than he has gained.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, which, I believe, is the most conservative organization in the country, don. Here, in this city, if a man wishes to country, the laborer has lost more than he has gained.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, which, I believe, is the most conservative organization in the country, failed in its great contest with the B. & M. Railroad a few years ago, and every man of them lost his position, and not a few are working at other employments today. I believe that the road has not since employed a Brotherhood man.

It is from capital that these organizations get their living, yet they are ever in a continual strife against it, and labor is watching with Argus eyes for some trifling variation from their rules, so that they may assert the authority given them by the unions.

It is now a bitter fight, and often much blood is shed, and millions expended by both sides. Capital will win in the end, for it is bound to succeed, as it has the principal elements of success within it.

There is one instance told of a strike which occurred on a railroad but a few years ago, when it was found that some one had instituted an organization called the A.P.A. among the Protestant members of the labor organization. It was soon seen that the strikers had an internecine war, and their energies, instead of being displayed against the corporation, were arrayed against each other—Protestant against Catholic, and they were compelled to abandon the strike.

A labor organization might be made useful were they as strict in taking in members as the Masonic society. By this means Anarchists and agitators might be kept from their ranks, and with reasonable men only in the order the prospect for arbitration would be good.

There is so much of the anarchistic element among many of these organizations that the rapid increase of these so-called Covey armes is not supported to the strike.

Rough on Solomon.

(Louisville Post:) A well-known minister succeeded in so shocking his congregation a few nights ago that several of the ladies fainted outright, while two or three had to be carried bodily from the church and resuscitated in the fresh air. The preacher was expatiating upon the merits or demerits of Solomon, as the case may have been, when he came to the place where Solomon began taking unto himself his 800 wives.

"Solomon," said the holy man, lifting his hands above his head and gazing sorrowfully at the roof of the church, "Solomon was, my dear friends—Solomon was—mon was, my dear friends—Solomon was— he was a regular Billy Breckinridge sort of a man."

Just here he paused. There was an awed hush, followed by a smothered groan that came from the center of the church. The preacher tried to correct himself, but it was too late, and his apology was almost as bad as the original remark. His sermon closed almost immediately.

It is stated on the best authority that President Cleveland and Mr. Caflisis have been in entire and perfect harmony if all their actions in regard to the tariff bill. Secretary Carlisie's preparation of the sugar schedule of that bill is officially stated as follows:

Senator Jones called upon him and informed him that the sub-committee had agreed upon the sugar schedule and requested him to put it in proper form. This the secretary did, paragraphs prepared being one of a few lines and providing that after January 1, 1895, there shall be levted and collected on all sugars a duty of 40 per cent., and upon all sugars above No. 16, Dutch standard in color, a duty of one-eighth of 1 cent per pound in addidition to the duty of 40 per cent. ad valorem. This amendment was sent to Senator Jones at the Capitol. In the afternoon in response to a request of Senator Jones, Secretary Carlisle visited the Capitol and was informed that more changes were considered, and, upon being requested to do so, made some changes in the amendment. It read:

"On and after January 1, 1895, there shall be levied and collected on all sugars not above No. 16, Dutch standard in color, and on all tank bottoms, syrups of cane juice or of best juice, melada, concentrated melads or concrete and concentrated melads or concrete and concentrated molasses a duty of 40 per cent. and upon all sugars above No. 16, Dutch standard in color, there shall be levied and collected a duty of 45 per cent."

As already stated Secretary Carlisle prepared the original amendment in accordance with the compromise that had been reached by the Democratic members of the Finance Committee and the alterations in the amendment the Capitol were made to meet the views of the committe. The committee then decided that the Hawaiian reciprocity treaty should not be affected by this schedule. The book containing the treatles was obtained by Secretary Carlisle from the room of the Foreign Committee and he inserted the provisions which preserved the Hawaiian treaty. All this is in

The story that Mr. Carlisle called on the committee on his motion and insisted that a certain schedule for sugar should be adopted for the reason that the Sugar Trust had made liberal contributions to the Democratic funds is denied emphatically by the Secretary. that the language of that act was not bread enough to warrant condemnation proceedings.

Senator Cockrell insisted that the resolution go to the Committee on Military Affairs. It was so referred.

When the tariff bill was laid before the Senate the battle over the sugar schedule began. The McKinley law placed raw sugar on the free list; imposed ½ of 1 cent duty on refined sugar and gave a bounty of 2 cents to sugar-growers. The House bill repealed all bounty placed on all sugars on the free list. The first bill reported from the Finance Committee of the Senate gave a specific duty of from 1 cent to 1.285 cents per pound, according to polarizing. The compromise measure now before the Senate makes the sugar schedule go into effect on January 1, 1895, the rates being 40 per cent. ad valorem on all sugar raw and refined; one-eighth of 1 cent additional on sugars above No 16 Dutch standard, with an additional one-tenth of 1 cent per pound on sugar from countries which pay export bounties. It also continues the sugar treaty with Hawaii.

Senator Manderson took the floor. The countries which pay export bounties. It also continues the sugar treaty with Hawaii.

Senator Manderson took the floor. The sugar schedule, he said, seemed to pervade the whole bill. The bill could not be touched without laying a hand on sugar. Almost five milion pounds of raw sugar had been consumed last year, representing, if grown and refined abroad, a grand total of $182,000,000, to be paid foreigners. Free sugar would mean immediate destruction of the beet-sugar industry and the gradual extinction of cane-sugar production in the Southern States. If properly protected he prophesied that before 1895 beet-sugar production would have so developed in the North and cane sugar in the South that the United States could supply the full consumption of the country. Beet-sugar growing when developed to the extent necessary to supply home demands would afford a crop from 2,000,000 acres.

Was it any wonder the farmers of the West wanted a continuation of the sugar bounty? They were enthusiastic over the prospect. It was a great boon which they asked Congress to save to them. No country in the world was so well adapted to produce sugar as the United States. Beetgrowing. Senator Manderson denied that in fosteping the growth of beet and cane sugar any obligation existed to protect refineries. There was no connection, he declared, between the sugar-grower and the odious Sugar Trust:

Senator Manderson gave notice that at the proper time he would offer as a substitute for the sugar schedule, the bounty provision of the McKinley bill, continuing it in force until July 1, 1905. He argued at length in support of the constitutionality of bounties, quoting extensively from court decisions and especially see decision of Justice Miller.

"If Congress were to give a bounty," inquired Senator Caffery of Louisiana, "to a farmer or a manufacturer, do you contend that the courts have no right to inquire whether the bounty is given for a public or private use?"

"I do" replied Senator Manderson "The decision of Mr. Miller is conclusive on that point."

Senator Peffer then proceeded at greatlength to support a bounty instead of a duty on sugar. In the course of his speech, he drifted into the discussion of the silver question; touched upon his ideas of theory of government and the panacea for the existing ills of the body politic. It was 5:45 o'clock when he concluded. Senator Harris then moved that the Senate proceed to the consideration of executive business. Before he made the motion, he declared the country was impatient over the slow progress made with this bill, and that business interests everywhere were suffering from the utterly inexcusable delay. He gave notice that after Monday he would compel the Senate to endure longer hours until the bill was disposed of. The Senate, at 5:55 o'clock, adjourned.

And yet, the above ordinance ment. And yet, the above ordinance makes no distinction and assesses the same license tax for all. Under a late decision of the Supreme Court of California this ordinance cannot be enforced, and the city loses its revenue. The parties represented by me do not wish to avoid the payment of a just and reasonable license tax for their business, but are of the opinion that $20 per month is entirely too much, and that $5 a month would be ample. They therefore suggest that in any ordinance which your honorable body may see proper to enact a provision to the following effect, or something similar

THE OUTFALL SEWER.

Chairman Nickell of the Sewer Committee made a trip yesterday over a part of the route of the outfall sewer, for the purpose of making a settlement with those who claim damages. It is hoped all the claims can be adjusted satisfactorily for about $400 or $500. A good deal of difficulty arises from the fact that some of the damages for which claims have been presented against the city resulted from no fault of the city, but rather of the contractors on the work. Whi ages to land on the strip for which a right-of-way was secured, the city is not responsible for the fact that the contractresponsible for the fact that the contract-ors' horses may have grazed from an ad-joining alfalfa field, or that some of the employees may have chanced to help themselves from a neighboring melon

In some of the cases, however, it is difficult to draw the line so as to say where the city's responsibility ends, and the contractors' begins.

The leak in the outfall sewer, about two miles beyond the settling chamber, at Agricultural Park, continues about the same as when spoken of a few days ago. Mr. Vincent, who was superintendent of construction, says, however, that if a heavier pressure were to be put on it the leak would probably fill with sediment in a short time.

Mr. Vincent has received instructions to notify the contractors (Mansfeld & Grant) to repair the leak. In the event that they fail to do so, Mr. Vincent is to have it done at their expense. It will be remembered the leak is probably through so thin a crack between staves that the slightest wedge would stop it. The only difficulty would be in excavating the muddy ground over the sewer at that point, and in pumping out what water has seeped into the ground about there, and which would naturally drain into the excavation. After getting down to it, the wood pipe can be wiped dry and the point where the water is oozing out can thereby be determined.

Benito Sesma and others have filed a petition to the City Council, asking that Myers street, south of First street, be

TODAY'S PRIMARY CONTEST.

The tickets offered to voters at today's dience was with them, and there is no questioning the fact that there are mulprimaries in all the wards should be scanned closely, to ascertain the character, political affiliations and purposes of the randidates for delegates.

The harbor question is of paramoun Importance. Let the attitude of candiflates be known in advance, so that the people may know for what manner of man they will vote when it comes to the nomi-"At Appomattox Puritanism, backed by overwhelming numbers and unlimited resources, prevailed, but brute force cannos settle the question of right and wrong Thinking men do not judge the merits of a cause by the measure of its success, and I believe the world shall yet decide," in Truth's clear, far-off light, that the South was, in the right; that her cause was just; that the men who took up arms in her defense were patriots, who had even better reason for what they did than had the men who fought at Concord, Lexington and Bunker Hill, and that her coercion, whatever good may have resulted, or may hereafter result from its measurement. nation of a candidate for Congress.

The commercial interests of Los Angeles require imperatively that a sure, reliable friend of San Pedro harbor be elected to the House of Representatives.

On this question the attitude of the two Los Angeles aspirants for Congress, Henry T. Hazard and James McLachlan, must b made known to the voters today.

The position of Mr. Hazard is unequivo cal. He is an openly-declared friend of Congressional appropriations for the government site, and, if elected to Congress may be depended upon to vote and work for such appropriations. He is, in short first, last and all the time, with the people of the city and county in their support of the free port, and he is willing to stand or fall on that issue.

The position of Mr. McLachlan is no satisfactory on this question. He has, we learn, specifically declined in response to direct questions, to commit himself to Santa Monica; he has also specifically declined, as a candidate, to commit himself to San Pedro, though it is just to him to say that he voted for the site in the Chamber of Commerce contest. Consider ing, however, his later declarations, he must be located or fence. This is an unsatisfactory, not to say an uncomfortable location. It is not a position entitled to respect; and there should be a loud and long demand on the part of voters today McLachlan any votes are cast for him by the partisans of either port. It is not time for a candidate for office-for such an office as Representative in Congress-to "blow neither hot nor cold."

The truth is, Mr. McLachlan is badly handicapped by two things, to-wit: (1) Lindleyism; and (2) his equivocal position on the harbor question. This will make his campaign difficult and the outcome problematical. No man infected with the deadly political disease of Lindleyism can be elected to Congress from the Sixth California District.

In the coming Congressional campaign the city of Los Angeles, without question or dispute, is more deeply interested than any other portion of the Sixth District in the election of a Representative in Congress from her own limits, and who will give his undivided efforts to the support of her large public interests, harbor, mmercial, business and building. It is therefore impolitic, in the last degree, for her people to divide and lose; they should concentrate and conquer. They should stand fast for a citizen of their own choice, one of their own number devoted to their special interests, as well as to all the interests of the entire district. There is at this juncture but one Republican candidate for Congress from the city of Los Angeles-Henry T. Hazard.

San Pedro Harbor is the natural entreot for Southern California. It has the dvantages of government location, of acmake it a harbor altogether adequate the great business of the growing uth. Old Santa Monica, where the Southnarbor, has no such natural advantages as has San Pedro, and to make even a passable harbor at that point will involve a vast expenditure of capital, which the government will never make, because it will not divide its efforts in this direction, nor abandon the chosen site of San Pedro. The people cannot afford to divide on this issue merely to gratify the whim of a private corporation. Let every voter at the primary election today assure himself that the candidates for whom he casts his has no such natural advantage in 1837, but was conducted sparingly. The acts of 1873-4, again suspending coinage, were of far less importance than certain financial statesmen have sought to make them appear, since their passage. What-ever influence those acts might have had, adverse to silver, was more than offset by a subsequent act, providing for the coining of 2,000,000 standard silver dollars per month, and by the so-called Sherman law of still later date, which was repealed by the present Congress, providing for the purchase of not less than 4,500,000 ounces of silver bullion per month by the govern-

The acts of 1873-4 were virtually a necessity of the hour-an expedient forced upon this country by the action of certain European nations in withdrawing their support from silver. Germany had passed demonetization law in 1871. The Scandinavian Union did likewise in 1874, and in were passed in France, in Belgium, in Switzerland, and in Italy. Holland and Switzerland suspended silver coinage in 1875. Like action was taken in France in the summer of 1876, and Spain was contemplating a similar course.

With all these potent influences at wor mong the commercial nations it would nave been futile for the United States to attempt, single-handed, to set up and naintain an absolute standard for silver as a measure of value. Had the attemp en made we should speedily have lost all our gold, at a time when we could leas afford to spare it (because it was sorely needed for resumption purposes;) and should have very soon found ourselves reduced to the single-silver standard, with our national credit impaired or destroyed and our currency debased in the eyes of the world and despised by our own citi-zens, who would have been the principal sufferers. The most that this government could do, under the circumstances was to limit the coinage of silver such a manner as to easily within our own control, and guarantee the value of every dollar sent out of the mints. These and were done with such wisdom an statesmanship that our people were amply protected from the evils of a debase rency and impaired national credit.

There has been no "conference of dele gates from the leading nations" to demonetize silver at any time. It has been the dream of eminent financiers, both of this country and of Europe, to bring about an international compact to preserve the bimetallic system and to place an equality with gold as a standard value. Such an agreement between the nations would be potent and sufficient to place the value of silver beyond the vicisstitudes of production and consump-tion. There is a strong senti-ment on both sides of the sea in favor of the plan, and this financial dream may yet become a reality. It is a con summation devoutly to be wished. The nations jointly can settle the silver question permanently. The United States alone is not strong enough to undertake to guarantee the parity with gold all the silver that must flow into our borders. We can only care for our own.

The citizens of Leavenworth, Kan., disgusted at the despotic and lawless pro-ceedings of the striking miners in that vicinity, and at the inaction of the authorities, have resolved to take a hand in the matter themselves, and to see that every man willing to work in the mines is pro ected in the exercise of his inherent righ to earn a living by honest labor. Resolutions to this effect were passed at a mass meeting, 1000 strong, on Thursday afteroon. If other communities afflicted with the anarchistic pest would arouse themselves and take similar action, the effect would be most salutary and effective in checking the tide of disaster which over the land. Officers of the law need to have the emphatic ass of all good citizens that they will be fully sustained in enforcing the law. There is still left enough Americanism and enough manhood in this country to stamp out the vile contagion of anarchy. It is time for the Americanism and the manhood of the nation to assert itself in a manner which

During the early part of his term, through the early part of his term, through the efforts of the District Attorney, all of his outside deputies were cut off on the ground that the law made no provision for the payment of their salaries. No injury to the service has, to our knowledge, resulted from this economy. The testimony before us indicates a very unsatisfactory condition among the deputies at the jail. There is evidence of bribery, and of the removal from the jail safe of prisoners' property, implicating Deputies Henry and Vignes. Vignes has already been discharged from his position, and we recommend the discharge of Henry. The law provides that the Sheriff shall receive, in addition to his expenses, a compensation of $5 per diem for the transportation of prisoners and insane persons to different penitentiaries and asylums. This per diem has been collected, although the service was rendered by deputies already on the pay-roll of the county at $90 per month.

"Another matter to which it is our duty to refer, is that while some of the deputies who have passes pay no fares over the railroads upon which they travel in transporting these persons, especially to Highlands, yet it appears in evidence that the Sheriff's bills are rendered, sworn to in full, and collected as though money had actually been paid for such transportation. We seriously question the legality of such proceedings. and energetic in the discharge of his

THE CORONER.

"The cost of this office for 1892 was $4427.20. Such an expense we belive to be unnecessary; indeed, it is doubtful whether it would not be better to abolish whether it would not be better to abolish the office of Coroner and transfer the duties and fees to the justices of the peace of the county and the Public Adminis-trator. These officers have ample leisure to attend to this business. The law per-mits at present the work to be delegated to the justices. Their present lack of suffi-cient work might well be filled by these duties.

and selects the juries to pass upon all deaths, from violent or suspicious causes. During the present term twenty-one such deaths have been due to railroad accidents within the city limits of Los Angeles. The character of these jury selec tions must largely govern the ver and determine whether the blame placed upon the corpse or upon the rail-road. Under such delicate duties as de-volve upon the Coroner, he cannot be too careful to avoid anything suggestive of collusion to defeat the ends of justice

"This officer now rides upon railroad passes, and is a regularly-employed physician of the Southern Pacific Railroach and the electric companies. From each employee of the latter road he receives a contribution of 50 cents per month. 'No man can serve two masters.' This officer cannot justly receive the people's pay as their hired officer to protect their interests, and the pay of the railroad companies to protect theirs.

COUNTY SURVEYOR.

"We found the office of the County Surveyor in excellent condition. The records were not written up to date, but the data is in such shape that the Surveyor, who personally writes up his books, in order to secure accuracy, can easily complete the to secure accuracy, can easily complete the records as soon as he can control sufficient time. He has been engaged steadily for some time past in making a complete survey of the San Gabriel River, showing its present channel, and, so far as possible, its meanderings. The work, when completed, will be a valuable and important one, as the records of this survey are being made with great eare and in permanent form.

COUNTY FUNDS.

"In the matter of a loan of $75,000, ne gotiated with the State Loan and Trus Company by the Supervisors in August, 1893, it has been charged before this, and a previous grand jury, that the money was borrowed when there was already a large balance in the treasury, and als that interest was paid unnecessarily afte the maturity of the loan. e find, upon careful examination, that

"We find, upon careful examination, that, while there was money in the treasury at the time, the particular fund for the benefit of which the loan was negotiated, was largely overdrawn, and also that there were no funds available for the payment of the loan until some weeks after its maturity. While there was an informality in the manner by which the time of payment was extended, the actual result was a saving in interest to the county of $42.29. The law now permits the transfer of money from one fund to another. This condition did not exist at the time when the loan was made, but resulted from subsequent legal proceedings."

COURTHOUSE AND CITY HALL.

COURTHOUSE AND CITY HALL.

COURTHOUSE AND CITY HALL.

"Our Courthouse seems to be in excellent condition and well cared for. We would recommend an improved elevator service. This, we believe, can be accomplished by attaching a lever to the present elevator. The man in charge is commendably courteous and obliging.

"In the City Hall there seems to be carelessness and disorder. The building is not as clean and neat as it should be. The boys in charge of the elevator seem to be carelessness and indifferent, and not under the control of any particular person, and we have had considerable complaint on this score. It should be remedied at once. We also call attention to the cigar-stand place in the front hall, around which is generally gathered a crowd of loafers. The floor adjacent to it is flithy with tobacco juice and stumps of cigars. The Council should, by all means, remove this objectionable feature, in a place where a large portion of ladies and young girls pass to and from the Public Library.

THE PYBURN COLLECTION.

"There was Brought to the atter this grand jury a demand of W. H. Py-burn for $3248.24, being '10 per cent. com-mission on claims collected from the State this grand jury a demand of W. H. Pyburn for $3248.24, being '10 per cent. commission on claims collected from the State of California for support of aged indigents, outside the hospital, amounting to $32,482.41, as per contract of December 8, 1891. We find that this money was actuaily collected and turned into the treasury, $15,000 to the hospital fund and the remainder to the current expense fund.
We also find that the collection was made in acordance with a written proposal to the Board of Supervisors, dated December 8, 1891, and accepted by them, as shown by the minutes of their proceedings of that date. It has been charged that J. A.
Kelley, who was then County Recorder, assisted Mr. Pyburn in the collection and preparation of the necessary data, and that, although he was a county officer, he received a portion of the compensation.
Mr. Kelley states, in reply, that the service which he rendered in the matter was performed 'nights and Sundays,' and that no portion of his time which legitimately belonged to the public was used in this work.
The legality of the transation was sustained by a written opinion of the District Attorney.

"It would seem from the facts, as pretained by a written opinion of the District Attorney.

"It would seem from the facts, as pre-sented to us, and as above recited, that no action in the matter is demanded, although the Board of Supervisors, who were in office during that period, were possibly subject to criticism for having made a contract of such a character without suffi-cient consideration.

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATOR. "An examination of this office revealed the fact that the books required by law are well and neatly kept. The incur bent keeps in addition, for his own con The incum bent keeps in addition, for his own con-venience and protection, a regular double-entry set of books. The office is now a salaried one, and there is no ground for a suspicion that the Public Administrator charges extortionate fees in order to en-hance his own personal income. The fees prescribed by law in the settlement of es-tates are, when collected, turned into the treasury. As they aggregate but little more than the salary allowed the adminis-trator, there is little ground for more than the salary allowed the adminis-trator, there is litle ground for the recommendation that the law be so amended as to reduce the fees now prescribed. There are instances where the estates are small and consist wholly of personal property in which the present law works a hardship. Legislation might be possible to remedy this defect, and we hope the suggestion will have the atten-tion of our law-makers. COUNTY TAX COLLECTOR

"After a careful examination of the Tax Collector, we find them kept in such a careful manner as reflects credit upon the incumbent. THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

"This office is to be heartily commended for his careful scrutiny of bills agains

the county, and for the diligen which he has opposed attempted upon the County Treasury. While he has demanded from other claimants that their accounts be carefully itemized, we find that his rule has not always been strictly that his rule has not always been strictly observed with reference to his own office. We discovered several demands in favor of the District Attorney's office, which werpassed in 1893 without the items being specifically stated. It is but fair to men passed in 1838 without the tems being specifically stated. It is but fair to mention, however, that there have been no instances of this character within the present year. In his report to us he makes a number of recommendations, which are of such merit that we do not hesitate to adopt them as our own. They are as follows: First, that the office of the County Treasurer and County Tax Collector be consolidated, and that the Treasurer collect both city and county taxes. Second, that the office of County Clerk and County Recorder be consolidated. Third, that county officers be paid an annual salary, which shall be in full for the services for themselves and deputies, the services for themselves and deputies, thus relieving the Board of Supervisors from the annoyance and responsibility of fixing salaries, and leaving that matter to the heads of the departments, where it dore properly belongs. It is fair to pre-ume that no county officer will employ nore deputies than are needed when their compensation comes out of his salary fourth, that the office of Coroner be abolisned and its duties devolved upon the local justices of the peace and the Public Administrator. This later recommendation has already been made by this grand jury in connection with our report upon the office of Coroner.

"The former Board of Supervisors, of which but two members remain, had a practice of charging for its numerous trips, nileage and full livery bills. These bills amount to about $200, and should be re-sovered to the treasury. We have criti-cized a number of officers under control cized a number of officers under control of the Board of Supervisors. Besides these matters we call special attention to a practice of the board of passing, and the payment of bills against the county, pronounced by the District Attorney to be illegal. We believe this practice of pass-ing to final payment bills declared im-proper by their legal adviser to be ob-COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

"All financial and purely business routine should be transferred from this office to the county offices regularly charged with such work. This can be done with with such work. This can be done with great advantage to the public business, and will allow more time to the County Superintendent for distinctively educational work. The present superintendent argently recommends this course. A number of bills of expense from the County Superintendent of Schools have been passed by the Supervisors over the District Attorney's disapproval. The expense account of the superintendent, from June 1, 1892, to May 1, 1894, outside of his salary, amounts to $1079.90. Included in this amount are some items of livery hire amounts to $1079.90. Included in this amount are some items of livery hire against the county for his own horse and buggy. The District Attorney, on December 31, 1893, gave his written opinion that 'where the law gives an officer where he is required to be one-half the time on the road, it contemplates that he shall furnish his own team and that his reasonable nish his own team and that his reasonable expenses would be feed and reasonable wear. In connection with the County Board of Education we find an expense account as follows: J. A. Foshay, $140.90; F. A. Molyneux, $194.75; C. L. Ennis, $24.20; J. H. Strine, $110.60; W. W. Seaman, $231.60; Spurgeon Riley, $105.30. The District Attorney has rendered an opinion touching these matters, similar to that quoted above.

INDIGENTS.

"This is the division of public charities most open to an abuse of the people's generosity. A practice exists in this division of giving orders for merchandise to persons claiming to be indigents. Last year these amounted to $13,000. These orders are often commuted, or partly commuted, by the holders, for money. Under such a system, the money commutation is necessarily reduced by the profit on the goods the merchant would have charged. Besides this, there can be no proper check on the quantity or quality of the goods delivered. The commutation of merchandise orders for money, is proof conclusive that this form of charity is not what the indigents most need, or else that our charity is abused. We believe conclusive that this form of that type not what the indigents most need, or else that our charity is abused. We believe that this practice should be changed. There is $1279 charged for transportation. Here is another weak point easily open to abuse. Under the head of burials of indigents, $$477.50 is charged. This heavy expense is divided into two rates, $50 each for one class of indigents and $12 each for the other. The $50 charge is explained as applied to indigent ex-soldiers.

"The three divisions of the public charities cost $78,154.06 per year. Of this, the outside indigents cost $28,042.36. There is in this work a lack of unity or aim between the divisions that should be rem-

ALAMEDA STREET.

ALAMEDA STREET.

"We find a large and rapid increase of the 'crib' nuisance on this street. The condition of affairs along this great rail-road thoroughtare has long been a reproach to the traveling public. In the midst of this horde of unfortunate courtesans is the Commercial-street station of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, to and from which there is a large local travel. It is a great wrong that all the patrons of this road should have this offensive social sore and its danger of moral contagion thrust upon them and upon their wives, sons and daughters, on every trip to and from this city. If the police regulations are too weak to entirely cure this evil, they should remove it to a point where only those brutalized persons who seek of live upon it need know of such misery and errror. We earnestly recommend the city authorities to take immediate and effective steps to suppress, upon Alameda street, this glaring moral reproach.

"Premiums now paid out for insurance on public property amount to nearly $20, 000. This sum is sufficient for a reserve fund, and amply warrants the city and county in becoming insurers of public

PASSES.

"The Constitution of California, art. 11, sec. 19, says: 'No railroad or other transportation company shall grant free passes or tickets at a discount to any person holding any office of honor, trust or profit in this State; and the acceptance of any such pass or ticket by a member of the Legislature or any public officer other than a railroad commissioner shall work a forfeiture of the office.' Logislature or any public officer other than a railroad commissioner shall work a forfeiture of his office.' A decision of our State Supreme Court gives color to the opinion that this penalty canot be enforced without an act of the Legislature. However, this may be, we all know that the power of great corporations has frequently, and, we believe, most unwisely been used to antagonize the public interests. Consequently, the acceptance of fees or favors from these corporations by public officers is improper, regardless of special legal provision. In the California Constitution, however, the people have specially declared their unqualified condemnation of passes to public officers. A public officer who accepts any such favor is in open violation of one of the solemnly-expressed commands of the people whom he serves. He avoids the penalty imposed only by a quibble over one of the endless number of tiresome technicalities habitually invoked to defeat the plain demands of justice. "We have found a very considerable.

"We have found a very consider proportion of our public officers, and m of their deputies, using railroad and strear passes. We especially commend to officers who have declined to accept or

"While in many respects there is exer clased by the Supervisors greater care than formerly in the purchase of supplies, we would recommend the adoption of a more rigid system. The old saying that 'what is everybody's business is nobody's business' is entirely pertinent when applied to public affairs. We believe it would result in a saving to the country if the Supervisors would employ a purchasing agent, who should be held rigidly accountable, and whose duty it should be to make all purchases for the county, advertising for proposals whenever practicable. It should be his duty to examine the quality of all goods bought; to see that in cases of competitive bids the articles delivered should be entirely up to sample in quality and quantity, and to keep himself thoroughly posted in the market values of such articles as the county steadily requires. In other words, he should possess the requirements which would be demanded of a buyer for a first-class business house. In one department of the Courthouse we found a single article of regular use, which within a few months was billed at no less than four different prices, although, as we learned by inquiry, there had been no change in the market value. Under the plan proposed such things could be avoided.

PRISONERS.

"The treatment of persons convicted misdemeanors, or crimes, should first carry out for all a full and equal administration of the penalty imposed. All secondary of the penalty imposed. All secondary treatment of prisoners should be to bring out such good qualities as they may have, and to make them useful stizens on their release. In fact, from a scientific point of view, no prisoner once convicted should be turned back on society until there is a reasonable expectation of his leading an honest life. We regret to report that we believe our local prison system neither metes out full and equal punishment to those convicted of crime, nor provides for a better life on inberation. There is evidence before us to the effect that prisoners seem to be able to get out of jail temporarily at any time upon the payment nporarily at an of money to the deputies. Some of the prisoners are treated almost as guests. Known criminals are frequently admitted to the County Jail as visitors, and disorders have existed among the prisoners, re-sulting in personal maltreatment for the purpose of evtorting money. This latter practice is called 'kangarooing,' and since purpose of evtorting money. This latter practice is called 'kangarooing,' and since our examination has been arrested.

"In the City Jail, added to its evils of construction and condition, is the general method of treating its prisoners. The effect of the whole of this is to pull down and degrade those unfortunates in its charge. This is especially true of the large number of prisoners convicted of minor offenses who recruit the chain gang. It is the surest way of making criminals of these persons. If the most dangerous class of convicts can be worked in the open country, as is now the case in certain plakes, without the Oregon boot or the ball and chain, certainly our city prisoners, in for minor offenses and not usually dangerous, need none of them. The system should be entirely changed. A competent captain is one essential. We believe that the prisoners should be in control of the Chief of Police when on outside work, instead of in the hands of an independent officer.

IN CONCLUSION.

IN CONCLUSION.

"Our duties have required us to bring into prominence the carelessness and dishonesty existing in the public service. It should not be inferred from this that the mass of public servants are careless or dishonest. We have found no such or dishonest. We have found no such condition.

"The extravagance and inefficiency in the public business are mainly due to a service system that has not changed with the changed condition of society, economics, etc. Our present local government system is unsuited to our present social conditions. The system has become complex without bringing in the elements of unity and force necessary for success in complex organization. It is from diffuse responsibility, superfluity of subordinate elective officers, together with a lack of complete checks and accounts, that our excessive taxation and wasteful public expenditures have come to pervade our city, county and State governments. Our next Legislature should devote its efforts to remedying these defects."

It may be necessary to explain to the general reader that the Western Passenger Association embraces no roads west of Colorado, and the Pacific Coast. Efforts have been made to rejuvenate the transcontinental associa-tion, which went to pieces some time ago, but without result thus far.

His familiarity with technical terms of anatomy convinced the medicos that he knew what he was talking about, if his appearance alone was not sufficient proof. In response to questions asked he said that his strength was due alone to exercise. As a boy, he stated, he was very delicate, but after he began to exercise his physical powers steadily increased until he reached his present age of 27 years. He went on to say that his development was not alone due to mere exercise, but that the will played an important part in the process. Consequently a healthy and evenly-balanced brain was an essential to correct and systematic manhood, of which he was an example.

A BIG THING.

That Concerted Strike of the Coal Miners.

But it is Not so Big to the People of Los Angeles as Some Other Things That are Much Nearer Home.

The world is just now witnessing in the United States one of those appalling are contemplating and shaking their heads in uneasy contemplation of what it means and where it will end. Thousands of coal miners all over the country have struck for higher wages, and, their demands having been denied, they are have struck for higher wages, and, their demands having been denied, they are now militant in spirit and threatening in temper. As Henry George points out, this is as perfect a state of civil war as though there were daily battles going on in which cannon and rifles were used to help on the destruction. While there is a kind of choked and smothered peace on the part of the contestants, destruction is nevertheless rampant. Property is going to pieces; labor, which should be yielding, is paralyzed, capital is wasting, and all the incidents of active war, except actual bloodshed, are present. Any one can see that from a state of passive war to a state of active war needs but a flare of the torch. The mine is sapped and ready; it needs but the match, then the explosion.

However serious that condition may be to the nation, there are other matters quite as serious to the people of Los Angeles. The most considerable of these is that auction sale now going on at M. German's jewelry store, at which Auctioner Dawson is sweeping everything before him, in his efforts to unload the balance of that handsome jewelry stock and reach out for a few dimes and two-bit pieces which the crowd has in pocket. Crowds press about the doors, and the stock is rapidly moving. It cannot last much longer, and if you want an article of jewelry, now is your chance. Sale begins at 11 a.m. and at 2 and 7 p.m., No. 320 South Spring street.

FIELD OF POLITICS.

The Republican Primaries Today.

Indications That the Machine Has Won.

Lively Contests Looked for in Several Wards.

Boss Webber, the Cambler, Apparently Has Dead Cinch on the Eighth-Fifth.

The Republican primaries will be held arroughout the city and county today, and all the indications are that there will be all the indications are that the solution is a large vote. While a careful review of the situation seems to indicate that the machine has got in its deadly work, this no excuse for the good citizen to remain out and cast his vote, carefully scrutiout and cast his vote, carefully scruting every ticket, and depositing his ballot for the best men, irrespective of whether they were nominated by a caucus or not. Another reason why every Republican should turn out is that he can then see for himself the absolute necessity for reform in existing methods before another contested, and the voting will be nerely a formal affair.

In the Second Ward there will be several tickets in the field, in the effort to defeat one or more of the caucus nomi-

In the Third Ward a determined will be made to defeat the caucus ticket by a combination of three or more tickets, including one by the A.P.A., and an ex-citing contest is anticipated. An anonymous leter has been received protesting vigorously against S. A. Carlisle, one of nominees, who, however, has repudiated the ticket.

In the Fourth Ward the Lindley Federal brigade combination have a complete organization, and no opposition will be made to the caucus ticket as a whole. Judicious scratching may, however, deleat one or more of the nominees.

In the Fifth Ward there will be an exciting contest. It was reported yesterday afternoon that McKinley had repudiated the caucus nominees, and given the citing contest. It was reported yester-day afternoon that McKinley had repudiated the caucus nominees, and given the opposition a written statement to this effect. Later a conference of the nominees was held at the Hollenbeck, and another at night, at which matters were adjusted, the result being given in full in another column. There is, however, a strong and well-organized opposition, headed by Silent and others, and the caucus nominees stand a chance of being defeated throughout.

In the Sixth Ward the straight caucus ticket will be elected, as no opposition had developed up to last night.

In the Seventh Ward some opposition will be made to the caucus ticket, in individual cases, a ticket having been prepared for that purpose.

In the Eighth Ward the Lindley-Webber organization is perfect, Webber, the gampared for that purpose.

In the Bighth Ward the Lindley-Webber organization is perfect, Webber, the gambler, having purchased every available worker and secured the support of the French "mac" element through Theodore Bauer. An opposition ticks will be voted, but no ward workers will handle it sgainst Webber's money. Webber has agreed to deliver three delegates to the State convention, which will be Webber, Booth and Llewellyn. He is said to be giving odds of two to one that thea respectable element on the caucus ticket fare not throw him down, having pledged themselves to vote at his dictation. He has paid room rent in the Eleventh precinct, while residing in Santa Monica with his family. His effort to vote in the county convention on a purchased proxy from Santa Monica, his friends claim will cut no figure. Webber has set up as the boss of the Eighth Ward, and as he spends money freely he will carry his point despite the fact that his gambling record, accompanied by his picture, was published in the San Francisco Examiner three weeks ago Sunday.

In the Ninth Ward the caucus ticket will win, as the machine organization is in perfect shape and can not be beaten. Chief Glass will have ample police protection at the polis, and will promptly suppress anything like rowdyism or intimidation.

THE POSTAL PRIMARY. Synopsis of the Plan of the Committee of

One Hundred. The following synopsis of the Postal Primary Plan will be interesting reading today, in connection with the object les-son which will be presented, emphasizing the necessity for its adoption before an-There pears to be a mistaken idea in some quarters that this plan has been tried and lound wanting. Such is not the case; the plan, as proposed, has not been tried. an be seen by reading the synopsis,

I.—REGISTRATION.

In order to be permitted to participate in a primary election, the voter is required to register his name (either personally or by letter) on a party list, which will be in charge of the county clerk, and that official will see that names are not duplicated on the lists of any of the parties. A strict use of these lists will be made, in order that no repeating or stuffing may be done. Separate postal primary elections are to be held by all the political parties, and each party is to have its own party registration list.

II.—CANDIDATES. I.-REGISTRATION.

registration list.

All candidates, both for delegates to conventions and for party nominations to office, must first make their candidacies known to the clerk and be vouched for by a petition signed by twenty-five electors; and the nymes of all candidates will appear upon was ballot of the party holding the primary election, and only one can be used in the primary election.

III.—BALLOTS.

The ballots will be prepared by the primary election, and only one can be used in the primary election.

The 'ballots will be pripared by the county clerk, will be pripared by the county clerk, will be printed in stub-books and consecutively numbered, and will contain the names of all candidates for delegates and party nominations who have filed petitions with the clerk. One copy of this ballot will be mailed to each voter whose name appears upon the list of the party holding the primary election. An envelope addressed to the county clerk, and postpaid, will also be sent to each voter, along with the ballot. The ballots will be arranged with detachable portions, on which all reference to the individual voter is placed, so that when removed, before opening the ballot, the latter will be absolutely secret.

IV.—DUTIES OF VOTERS.

Upon receiving his ballot, each elector may vote for as many delegates to the convention as the precinct wherein he resides may be entitled to under the apportionment made by the central committee of the party holding the primary election. He may also (and this is the important feature of the plan) express his preference as to his party's nominees for the various offices to be filled at the coming general election. In both cases he must mark his ballot in the same manner that the Australian ballot is marked under the present law, that is, by placing a cross (X) after each name voted for. Having prepared his ballot, the voter has then only to seal the same in the envelope addressed to the county clerk which has been sent to him, and with his down hand deposit it in the mail. Ten days will be allowed from the time the ballot is mailed to tha ruter, within which time he may return it to the clerk.

V.—CANVASSING AND DECLARING THE RESULT.

After these ballots are deposited in the mail they are in charge of the United States postal authorities until they are opened and counted in public, so that there is no possible chance to tamper with them in any way. On the date set these ballots will be opened and counted in a public place, and the result announced, both as to the vote for delegates and as to "preference votes" cast for candidates for office.
VI.—POWERS AND DUTIES OF CONVENTIONS.

The delegates elected to the convention shall meet at the time named by the central committee, and shall at once organize in the usual manner, and, when so organized, will be and constitute the central committee of the party, to manage all its affairs until the next primary election shall have named its successor and the latter has organized. The central committee from its own members, to which shall be delegated the conduct and business of the campaign, subject always to revision by the full committee or convention. The convention shall then proceed to nominate its candidates for office. If any candidate for party nomination has received a majority of the "preference votes" cast by the people, the convention must declare him to be the party's nominee for the office which he seeks, without reference to or consideration of any other candidate, for the reason that he has been nominated by the whole body of electors of the party—that is to say, BY THB

Quard the Judiciary

LOS ANGELES, June 1.—(To the Ed itor of The Times.) I heartly indorse all you have said as to the unfitness of J. W. McKinley for the Supreme bench. A man of the most meager legal attainments, of small mental caliber, narrow and conceited, he has no capacity for judicial reasoning, or even for collating and applying the law as laid down in the decisions of the higher courts. He is far from being fit to hold the place he now has.

Possessed of no dignity or judicial bearing, it is farcial to observe him during a trial before him. Let any one read his opinion in a case, and that of the Supreme Court in the same case given on appeal, and his weakness will appear in the strongest light. We want no degradation of the Supreme bench, such as would follow by his elevation thereto.

Judicial learning and wisdom would be sadly mocked by it and brought into merited reproach.

FIFTH WARD.

An Address to the Republicans of the Ward.

The Caucus Nominees for Delegates to the County Convention Make a Statement of the True Status of Their Position on the Candidates.

The matter of the selection of fifteen dele gates to be voted for at the primary then came up. Mr. Hazard stated that a list of fifteen candidates had been selected to be voted for at the caucus, which had been submitted to the three candidates, and to their friends, and if selected would be satisfactory. Prof. Seamans was present and assented to this. Judge McKinley was not present, but sev-

Mr. Slauson and Judge Silent took part, and were placed in nomination, and each of them placed several of their friends in momination. About forty names were placed before the meeting. Then a motion was carried to ballot for fifteen delegates out of those nominated. Mr. Slauson and Judge Silent objected, and moved that all the names be printed for the primary. This was lost and then the motion to then and there select fifteen delegates was carried, and a ballot was taken which resulted in the election of the Hazard combination ticket by a majority of about fifty-five.

We have heard that Mr. Slauson, Judge Silent and their friends are to run an opposition ticket upon the pretended ground that the caucus was unfair, and that Judge McKinley does not indorse the ticket, and that he was misrepresented in the caucus as having agreed to the ticket.

In this regard we have this to say: Judge McKinley did see the ticket, and did object to two men whom he thought might not support him. And at his instance one name was struck off the ticket, and he is now on the opposition ticket. The other name was left upon the ticket upon it being ascertained that the person was a friend of Judge McKinley, and the person referred to was placed in nomination by one of the strongest of the Judge's supporters.

We have been informed that the opposition intend to issue a circular to be used among the voters that Judge McKinley is not favorable to our ticket.

A committee from our delegation have waited upon Judge McKinley on this day, and received the following statement in writing from him, to-wit:

"June 1, 7 p.m., 1894. I have no objection to the election of any of the gentlemen nominated by the caucus held at Washington Gardens, Tuesday evening, May 29.

"J. W. M'KINLEY."

We feel it to be our duty to call the attention of the voters of the ward to the fact that the real and only cause of the opposition ticket is a desire to prevent Mr. Hazard receiving the nomination for Congress, and that the opposition is founded upon the personal animosity of some three men to Mr. Hazard, and for no other reason.

We will, if elected, support the said candidates in the convention to the best of our ability, as we were requested to do by the Republicans at the caucus.

We are informed that the Slauson-Silent combination intend to flood the ward with circulars containing all sorts of wild statements about the dissatisfaction of Judge McKinley, and the like, to prejudice the voters against our ticket.

We also call your attention to the fact that Judge Charles Silent is the present chairman of our County Central Committee, and that it was his duty to have called a new caucus to select delegates if he was satisfied that the caucus complained of was not a fair to select delegates if he was satisfied that the caucus complained of was not a fair one. Had he done this it would at least appear more regular than to get up his own private ticket without invitation to the public in order that private spleen might be vented on Mr. Hazard, who has always conducted himself in and out of office in a manner highly creditable to himself and to the public.

At first sight the neglect to purchase the "Book of the Builders," which is the authentic history of the World's Fair, by the men who built it, seems a very little thing—hardly worth making a stir about. You can't go far wrong on such a small issue. But this means the loss of thousands of possibilities to you—the of thousands of possibilities to you—the possibility of interesting study, wider education, richer scientific knowledge, important research, clearer perception of artistic beauty, higher appreciation of human skill, fuller knowledge of the world's progress, etc., etc.

These and many more valuable advantages are wasted and neglected by the reader who neglects to subscribe for this most important book of the year.

Charles H. Meyers Killed by Martin Fritz.

Night.

Who Afterward Blew Out Own Brains.

The Murder Caused by the Murdered Man's Attentions to the Suicide's Wife-Officer Lee's Narrow Escape.

At 10:30 o'clock last night Martin Fritz At 10:30 o'clock last night Martin Fritz shot and killed Charles H. Meyers, a driver in the employ of the Pacific Bottling Works, and then blew out his own brains, at the corner of Vignes and Alies streets. The tragedy is undoubtedly due to the fact that Fritz was jealous of the attentions paid by Meyers to his wife, from whom he had been separated for some time

German woman, called at police head quarters and demanded protection from her husband, whom she claimed was drunk and threatening to shoot her. After hearing her story Clerk Gridley gave her a note to the officer on the beat nearest to her residence, No. 865 Center street, and she then left the station

At 10:30 o'clock as Police Officer Lee was patrolling his beat on Aliso street, near the brewery, he heard a shot fired. Runnig toward Vignes street, whence the sound came, Lee saw a man standing on the crossing, but was brought to a halt suddenly by the fellow's deliberately shooting at him. Fortunately the bullet fell short, striking the sidewalk just in front of the officer, and throwing gravel up against his legs. Shouting to the man to "hold on," Lee advanced more cautiously toward him, and as he did so the stranger stepped on to the sidewalk in front of Escallier's saloon, fired a third shot, apparently at random, and then deliberately placed the muzzle of the pistol to his mouth and pulled the trigger for the fourth time. Just as Lee reached the corner, the man fell prone upon his face on the sidewalk, and before the officer stepped to his side, he was dead, his last bullet having entered his brain. This man proved to be Martin Fritz.

Meanwhile, immediately after the report of the first, shot had been heard, a man rushed frantically up to the door of Mrs. Fenton's house, on the corner of Vignes street, and implored her "for God's sake" to let him in, as he was shot. Scared almost out of her wits, that lady refused. was patrolling his beat on Aliso street,

Scared almost out of her wits, that lady refused, and the man turned and ran like a deer down Vignes street to Commercial, but, just after turning the corner, fell. He was discovered by the night watchman at the brewery, who ran out to see what the shooting was about. Not knowing that at the brewery, who ran out to see what the shooting was about. Not knowing that the man was hurt, the watchman telephoned to police headquarters for the parton-wagon; but, upon arrival at the Receiving Hospital, it was found that the patient was dead. Investigation revealed the fact that he was shot through the heart, the bullet having entered his back just below the left shoulder blade. There was nothing on his person which tended to disclose his identity, except a receipt of the Pacific Bottling Works, but with this clew to work upon, the rest was easy. F. Hoppe, the manager of the bottling works, was sent for, and at once identified the dead man as Charles H. Meyers, one of his drivers, who resided at the corner of Third and Los Angeles streets.

Both bodies were removed to the undertaking establishment of R. L. Garrett & Co., where an inquest will be held today.

Graduating Exercises of Medical College.

The Operahouse Filled With Students and Friends.

Diplomas Conferred by President J. P. Widney.

Address by Dr. Joseph Kurtz, in Which He Gave Some Good Advice to the Young Medicos-Other Addresses.

The graduating exercises of the college of Medicine of the University of Southern California, held last night at the Grand Operahouse, were well attended by friends of the institution and of its students and graduates. A party of students from the College of Liberal Arts occupied seats in the front of the audience, and just after first piece of music gave their yell, which was responded to by a yell from the medical college students, who were sitting in the lower boxes to the right of the schools in the University of Southern California.

Prayer was offered by Rev. A. C. Smither and "Chinese March," by Parlow, was played by the orchestra.

The faculty address was delivered by Prof. W. P. Conrey. After making some introductory remarks, he said there is need of education in order that the learning of one generation may be transmitted to another, and from that to the next, together with the added accumulations of learning acquired by that generation. Among such institutions is the medical college. It has, he said, been asked what is the object of having a medical school in Los Angeles. In reply it may be said this city is destined to become the center of a territory of vast population, which is likely to number in the millions. Such being the case it is important that scientific institutions should be established here and among them, the medical college.

It is the business of a physician to learn, because his business is in the realm of science. He must, of course, also learn to apply the knowledge gained. It has been found to be the business of the physician not only to treat disease through its course, in order that afterward health to apply the knowledge gained. It has been found to be the business of the physician not only to treat disease through its course, in order that afterward health may be restored, but also to teach people how to prevent disease. They teach people how to live and postpone till a later date the teaching of them to die. Some of the present class, he said, may in time be able to pursue some special course of study and add something to the knowledge of the world, but for most physicians it is to apply the knowledge already gained.

The profession is not an easy one. The charlatan who preys upon the credulity of others, and in that way makes his living, does not use the method employed by the honorable and conscientious physician. There are many temptations to be overcome in the profession. There is the temptation to slothfulness, the temptation to secure money by wrong practice, and has a support trees; the largest and the sometimes almost trees; allocations.

temptation to slothfulness, the temptation to secure money by wrong practice, and the sometimes almost irresistable inclination to be overcome by weariness.

The speaker's remarks were suitably closed, and were applauded.

Another selection was played by the orchestra, and then the class was presented for graduation by the secretary, Dr. W. L. Wade. They had, he said, pursued their course creditably, and were recommended for graduation.

President J. P. Widney, in conferring the degrees, said there are two classes of recipients of diplomas. One of these classes is of those who think their diploma means the completion of their education.

The diplomas which he was about to present meant that they had learned how to learn, or, in other words, that they could now stand on their own feet.

Their future depended upon themselves. The world's estimate of each would be his value to the world.

After concluding his speech President Widney tendered to each of the five graduates in turn the diploma of the college and conferred at the same time the degree of doctor of medicine.

"Gentlemen, you are no longer 'misters,' you are doctors," said he, as he concluded.

The valedictory was by Dr. Joseph Kurtz. He said he had been asked by the graduating class to make an address. Just why they had done so he could not say.

The speaker went on to tell of how, within the past few years, it has become sare, comparatively, to explore with the surgeon's knife parts of the human body which hitherto it was considered fatal to attempt to reach. Many diseases which used to be treated with medicine are now treated by surgery. He hoped that within a few years' time tubercular consumption would become a surgical disease. The speaker continued by speaking in with the rendering by the orchestra of the "Bronze Horse," by Auber. Before this had been concluded the curtain rose disclosing the faculty and graduates seated on the stage.

The stage was tastefully adorned with bright colored flowers and above and in the rear of those seated there was hanging a flag bearing the colors of the various schools in the University of Southern California.

They must keep in practice and become more skillful. As no patient will care to be practiced upon, they should avail themselves of every opportunity to nesists surgeons performing operations, and gradually the skill will come to them.

Should any one devote himself to some specialty in the profession he ought still to keep in regard to all diseases and their treatment, for the most trivial operation may possibly lead on to a complication of diseases.

There is the professional honor that must not be overlooked. This is something which goes beyond the integrity and honor of business life.

*New YORK, June 1.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly, review of trade says that it is a sign, of cheering import that unfinished businesa, represented by clearings and railway torrage, show less decreases since the strikes began than might have been expected. But in choate business, the orders which start the wheek, to result in tonnage and paylaents weeks or menths later, there seems to be a decrease. Meanwhile, the consequent interruption of traffic and industry increases. The stoppage of iron furnaces between the Aligzheny Mountains and the Missistipi Ri/er has become complete, and a greater number of concerns, manufacturing iron, and others requiring soft coal or coke for fuel, have been forced to stop. Business cannot increase in volume under such circumstances, and yet payments through all clearing-houses for the week show a decrease of only 26,8 per cent., compared with last year. Though a large number of works are idle, the demand for products is not what might be expected, either in volume or in urgency. The output of iron and steel has been suddenly and sharply reduced, but the reduced supply seems about sufficient for the demand, as it was a month ago, except in December. Sales of small lots of Bessemer pig, at places as distant as West Troy and Duluth, for transportation to the Carnegie works near Pittsburgh, disclose how completely stocks are exhausted, and sales if redivery in July and August are at 11.00?

11.15, a price 1.30 higher than, prevailed a few weeks ago, which indicates belief that the termination of the strike will not soon brings back the old prices. But for most products, notwithstanding the interruption, the dymand is unexpectedly narrow, and the buyers feel that the present advance is but amporary. Shipments of boots and shoes for the week, and of the past four weeks, are a little larger than a year ago, and there are orders for some staple products to warrant work for some time to come, but many factories are discharging cutters, or otherrant work for some steaps products to warrant work for some time to come, but many factories are discharging cutters, or otherwise reducing hands, because their orders do not justify hope of running much longer, Again the lowest price ever recorded has been made for cash wheat, 55½ cents at New York, as against 75 cents a year ago, while the average in May, 1894, was 90 cents, and in April, 1891, 1189; Western receipts are naturally small, being only 1,178,000 bushels last year; but Atlantic exports were only 807,800
bushels, as against 2,241,010 bushels last year;
Corn is stronger, with exports were only 807,800
bushels, as against 2,241,010 bushels last year.
Corn is stronger, with exports about haif as large as a year ago, and the unfavorable outloop for oats results in higher prices,

Bradstreet's Review.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Bradstreet's Financial Review tomorrow will say that Wall street apparently regards the fate of the sugar schedule of the Senate Tariff Bill as likely to decide the immediate tendency of speculative values. The prospects of a prolonged debate, and the uncertainty regarding the outcome, have depressed activity and created an unusually dull and waiting market. Other factors have been neglected, or, at most, produced but a slight impression on prices. The continuance of the bituminous strike and the shipment of $5,250,000 more gold to Europe, in the face of a weaker exchange market, have been no loss ineffective than the settlement of the railroad rate war in the West and the outbreak of a similar disturbance in the South. The holiday on Memorial day was apparently welcomed by the street as a respite from an unprofitable state of affairs. Europe has limited its participation to very limited purchases, and the public is absolutely out of the market. This attitude, however, simply reflects the indisposition of the larger professionals to take an active part in the market while there is such uncertainty as to whether the adoption of the sugar schedule will encourage a raily, or its reduction furnish occasion for a depression. Trading has consequently consisted of an exchange of contracts between boardroom brokers, the only feature being the apparent care taken by the manipulators of Sugar stock to repress any decided movement in that security, supplemented by manifestations of further strength in Chicago Gas. Bradstreet's trade review will say that the decidedly sunfavorable condition of general trade reported last week continues, without material improvement. Continued delay of tariff legislation prolongs the stifling effect on wholesale business. The great coal strike continues, without a sign of early improvement, no concessions having been made by either side. More mills and factories have closed their doors for want of

GENERAL EASTERN MARKETS.

Grain and Produce.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

CHICAGO, June 1.—July wheat went below bedrock today, touching 54%, and closing 11% clower than yesterday. Fine weather, weak cables and free selling were the depressing factors, and the price went down with very few reactions. July corn closed %c lower, July oats %c lower, and provisions at a slight decline. Wheat was dull and weak all day. The market opened %c under the closing price of yesterday, and, after selling up %c%c, declined, with some railles, %c, and closed near the bottom. Offerings were liberal from the start, and the Southwest, which loaded up heavily yesterday, sold today. The demand was light, and principally to cover shorts. July was especially weak, and was sold freely, a good deal changing taking place at 1%c premium for September. The more favorable weather, the weak and discouraging cables, absence of cash demand and lower outside markets, all aided in the decline. Corn was fairly steady, within %c range, the action of wheat against the price, but lack of offering treweather during the past week has remained cool and cloudy, with a slight fall of rain on Thursday. The moisture came too late to be of any use to grain, but it is beneficial to beans, corn and feed. Deciduous fruits are doing well, al-though from now on warmer weather will to hasten their ripening in some of the lower lands, and where tion is practiced. There will be a fair crop of barley, but generally it will be short. It is scarcely probable that hern California will have enough for ne consumption. The price of barley San Francisco has been falling during the past two weeks, speculators have lost courage, owing to the rains, but down here there has been less change in uotations. Barley, for which $1.15 was offered a few weeks ago, is now held at about $1, but there are not many transctions, as the mills are fairly well supfor export, while every one is inclined to ing crop will be.

There is considerable speculation in regard to the immediate future of the prune market, owing to the conflicting reports The California Fruit-grower es as follows on this subject:

There is very little doing in spot goods. California prunes in the Eastern States are in limited supply and passing into consumption quite slowly. French prunes are reported in good supply, with a liberal quantity on the way. Favorable reports from Bordeaux, Plance, are being received regarding the coming crop. The crop of France for the season of 1893 is estimated at $2,000,000 to $4,000,000 pounds. Conditions regarding the coming crop in this State are about the same stimated at $2,000,000 to $4,000,000 ands. Conditions regarding the coming in this State are about the same week ago. It is now quite certain the grop of the old orchards will be t, but just how far the new trees ing into bearing will go toward makthe shortage good, it is hard to tell indications point to a fair crop of the in this State this season.

To Teach Dairying.

There was recently a meeting of the State Dairying Association in San Francisco, called for the purpose of giving daien an opportunity to learn from Prof. I. P. Roberts of Cornell University, the details in regard to the recently established dairy school at that place.

Prof. E.berts stated that $50,000 had en secured from the State of New York to build and equip a dairy school building at Cornell, with which a thoroughly arranged school had been put in operation the State adding a liberal sum for expenses of instruction. A class of twentyfour students, from young and middle-aged practical dairymen, was received during the first term of three months, recently The idea in view is to admit as students, for the full course, only those who have enough farm experience to read ily comprehend instruction, though many are permitted to attend lecture By teaching the principles of practical dairying fully, to the number that can be put at the actual work of cheese and but ter-making and handling of the herd of nplete the course will be able to serve as competent teachers in the dairy com munities of the State, and make better returns for the expense of instruction than if the classes crowded beyond the school equipment. This rounding out of dairy education to those who have finished their every day farm experience is more the pur-

They intend to do a considerable ount of political work in this direction They say that they do not see why they should be ignored, as they were in the last legislature, while the fruit and wine industhat since the horticultural industry assumed such great importance in California dairying, which is also a most important stry, has been to a great extent over

An Expert on the Beet-sugar Industry

Dr. Wiley, who is prominently connected with the Department of Agriculture at Washington, has been visiting Southern California during the past week. Dr California during the past week. Dr. Wiley has made a special study of the et-sugar industry, upon which subject he has issued a number of interesting pamphiets. Ten years ago Dr. Wiley vis-ited California, at which time he wrote a pamphlet regarding the beet-sugar indus-try in this State, with a map giving the on of those sections of the State, entures, are, in his opinion, adapted to culture of sugar beets. One of the isites, Dr. Wiley says, is that the average temperature of the summer months should not be over 70 deg. for the twenty-four hours. Owing to the coolness of the nights there are comparatively few prienced there. A short time ago the

Dr. Wiley fully agrees with what The gard to the vast importance of this inimportance can scarcely be overrated. Not only is it of importance to California, but to the whole country. As Dr. Wiley points out, this sending away of over $75,000,000 every year for sugar is the heaviest drain which is made upon the United States. It is especially heavy because this money goes largely to countries which send us little in return, such, for instance, as Cuba and the Sandwich Congress will abolish the bounty and replace it by a duty of no less than cent a pound on raw sugar. Owing to the advantages which Southern California possesses in growing sugar beets, we could get along very well in this section with

The Raspberry.

The raspberry is a favorite fruit, and always in demand at good prices, but comparatively few of out horticulturists in Southern California have devoted any special attention to it. During the past de cade many improvements have been made varieties in the market, each of which had some specially good point, but the ideal market berry had not been discovered, yet been found, although great improveof borry which were displayed for sale a

One point about the raspberry which is sometimes overlooked is that the plant de-generates very quickly, and constant cultivation must be given to keep up the quality. Most varieties of the raspberry produce a great number of suckers, and if these are allowed to run as they please they will produce very small and inferior fruit the next season. Only a few canes should be allowed to the hill, and these should be thoroughly cultivated on light, moist, sandy soil.

Evaporated Apples. Under date of May 15, the New York Commercial Bulletin says:

"The strong tone of the market for evaporated apples seems to have support that contrasts with the conditions that have latterly served to raise quotations and stiffen the market. The peculiarity of the apple market is that stocks are extremely low the world over. Interior New York, it is positively learned, has practically nothing on hand. Western evaporators are nearly if not quite as closely sold up. New York distributors, from all accounts, have unusually small stocks, in facts not enough to fill one good sized order. Inquiries made recently brought out facts going to show that other Eastern and interior distributive points are nearly as bare, particularly as far as choice or higher grade goods are concerned. Great Britain imported 7328 packages during the four months ending April 30; but London had only 230 boxes left at the end of the month, and other English markets, it is claimed, are also unusually lightly stocked. During the correspondingly four months enough to fill one good sized order. Inqui-During the correspondingly four months last year the British importations were 8546 packages, and 1610 remained in Lonso4b packages, and 1610 remained in London at the close. The importations in the first four months of 1892 were 20,380 packages, and the stock April 30 amounted to 5310 packages, or within about 2000 packages of the entire British importation between January 1 and April 30, 1894. These data speak for themselves as far as the situation is concerned, showing that while cost has caused more or less curtailment. cost has caused more or less curtailment of consumption, the latter has not only of consumption, the latter has not only absorbed new supplies but taken up about all the surplus that was carried over from previous years. Unfortunately, no similar data bearing upon American home movement are available, but the lightness of stocks in evaporators' commission merchants' and jobbers' hands warrants the presumption that not only supplies from last crop, but the carry-over from previous years has passed into consumption, or at least into retailers' hands. There is some evidence also that this fact is largely accountable for present comparatively here. least into retailers hands. There is some evidence also that this fact is largely accountable for present comparatively high prices, since there has been less than the usual speculation, and very little attempt to influence the market will crop 'scares,' or by other devices with which speculative operators are familiar. At the moment, 15½ to 16 cents for fancy quality, 14½ to 15 cents for choice, and corresponding figures for other qualities would seem to reflect strictly inside value in this market at the present time.

"March exports of dried apples amounted to 683,599 pounds. In the corresponding month in 1893, the movement involved 511,161 pounds. For the nine months ending March 31, 1894, the total is only 2,357,-178 pounds, against 6,706,766 pounds exported during the corresponding period last year."

Good Words for California Fruits (South St. Paul Daily Reporter:) California fruits are each year becoming more generally used in the city of St Paul and in other large markets, and we believe it will be but a short time before imported goods will be entirely dropped, as the California stock is giving perfect satisfaction, and can be purchased so as to be sold by the reall trade for reasonable prices. Reports which are affoat to the effect that dealers are holding values so high on these goods as to curtail the consumption, are unreliable, as a close inspection of various quotations will show. It is true that prices have advanced during the past few weeks, but it was on account of the active demand the goods were having. before imported goods will be entirely

PESTS AND PARASITES.

Fighting the Cutworm.

Reports from various sections of the State show that of late the cutworm has been doing much damage in some vine-yards. At a recent meeting of the State Horticultural Society, President Lelong said that an excellent method of fighting the worm was by the use of strips of sheep pelt to wrap around the tree; the wool effectually preventing the worms from crawling under the band, which, on the outside was smeared with a concoc rowers of Nebraska have to contend with creat difficulties, owing to the great and pld variations of weather which are exprenced there. A short time are the base of the tree during the day,) killing each worm. It looked a little are the base of the tree during the day,) trees could be treated in a night's work.

After a thorough trial of the English sheep it is found that they do not Americanize sufficiently to meet the conditions of sheep husbandry generally in this country. It must be borne in mind that the Spanish sheep had to "rough it" over two thousand years. In spring they were driven an average of four hundred miles into rough, rocky mountains for summer grazing, and in the autumn were returned to the sunny plains for wintering. The Spanlards have no ancient sheep liter ature to which we can turn for proof, but the manner in which they ducted their sheep industry is sufficient evidence that they were entirely without shelter from inclement weather, and hence their proverbial hardiness. Wise nature usually comes to the rescue and transforms animals to suit their changed conditions and environments, so that in Spanish lands she transformed the thin-coated sheep of Bible times into thick-coated merinos

Raising Calves.

"As a general rule I let the calf suck the cow for three days, then I take it away; and after it has been twelve hours without food I give it some new milk-about ten pounds, if I can get him to eat it. If, while the calf is running with the cow, you can handle it a little, so as to make it tame, it will learn to eat much easier. I am a large, stout man, and can easily hold a calf. If the calf is tame, so that it will come up to you and suck your hand, you can get it to eat the first time without much trouble, but if it is not tame I get a-straddle of the calf, back him up in a corner, hold the pail between my knees, put one finger in the calf's mouth, and with the other hand hold the calf's head in the pail and keep doing so until the calf commences to suck. Sometimes he will begin right off and others will refuse for maybe ten minutes, but I never had one but what would suck after a while. By the third time I feed him I commence to take my finger out of his mouth, and do so more and more until he drinks without having a finger to suck. I feed entirely on new milk for ten days, then give about half new and half twelve-hours-old skimmed milk (using the cream I take off the milk on the table); then, after another ten days, I drop the new milk, having done so by degrees, and feed half twelve-hours-old skimmed milk. I work it so for a little while, but soon give him all skimmed milk, giving about eleven or twelve pounds at a feeding, and feed twice a day, without any meal or bran. I give in winter all the hay they want, keeping some before them all the time. After a calf is three months old you can give it some meal or shorts, if you wish, but I do not think it best if it can have plenty of milk. I feed calves until about five months old, and then commence to wean them by degrees. If calves scour while they are being fed milk. I give them about two teaspoonfuls of sait, In summer I feed them their milk cold, and it is generally thick, sour milk. In the winter I warm it a little, about milk-warm or blood-heat. It is well to handle your calves some while they are eating, so as to make them tame, and that is one advantage of raising them by hand, for they are generally tame. make it tame, it will learn to eat much easier. Horse-fed pork promises to be the next Nevada delicacy. The Austin Review has story of a rancher who is said to be killthe carcasses He has Indians to do the killing by shooting the horses with a rifle. The horses are very wild, but the Indian shooting one horse down, the others throw up their heads and tails and plunge about up their heads and talls and plunge about in dismay, every few minutes going closer to the dying animal, when another is brought down, and so on, until lately one Indian killed in a few minutes one entire band of twenty-seven horses. This is a new outlet for the surplus horse supply which perhaps California breeders have not yet thought of.

well as a larger one. Many of the ex-penses in a small creamery are as great, or nearly as great, as those in a larger one. An Eastern exchange considers that it is indiscreet to attempt such an enterprise with less than 300 cows. To make a success it is necessary to have the service of an experienced butter or cheese-maker to superintend the business unless the owner himself is an expert and willing to do hard work. The wages of such a man will be the same, whether the cheese factory is large or small.

Eastern Butter Prices. (American Cultivator, May 5:) The butter market is off about two cents per pound from last week. The demand continues light, the great body of consumer claiming their poverty prevents the usual purchases of choice butter. The market is about 10 cents lower than at this time last year, and it is hoped that the present low range of prices will develop a good domand for cold storage purposes. "he season is somewhat earlier than .ust year and good grass butter may be soon expected. The situation is one of , reat uncertainty.

It is difficult to secure reliable quotations for large lots. Dealers hold off and buy only sparingly. A few sales of choice Western creamery were made Tuesday and Wednesday at 18 cents, and one or and Wednesday at 18 cents, and one or two receivers tried hard to got 19 cents, but, as a rule, buyers were disponed to wait for further developments. The best Northern could not be sold at over 19 cents, and the opinion of most dealers was that 17 to 18 cents would be a full rate for Western creamery on Wednesday, Fancy packages of Northern ruled at 20 cents, and in a jobbing way sales were made at 20 to 22 cents. Many of the dealmade at 20 to 22 cents. Many of the dealers were receiving small consignments from near-by places, and for this reason were not buying much in a large way. For the best Vermont dairy it was not easy to get over 16 cents in lots and 17 cents in selections. All the undergrades were dull and unsettled, and a nominal range of 10 to 15 cents is the best that can be quoted.

The receipts of butter at Boston in pounds for the trade year running from May 1, 1893, to April 30, 1894, were 40, 035,126. For the same time last year, 39, 221,744 pounds. lous to still hold the old view of farming as synonymous with barbaric root-digging. For this reason we regard as odd and visionary the scheme which is said to be now entertained at the East to colonize the idle people upon idle land, and from these two exponents of unfitness to expect a return in prosperity and comfort. Such however, is the scheme:

"Each colony will occupy a block of land two miles square, or four square miles. It will contain 108 farms of 20 acres each, and in the center wil be a plat of community property, containing 380 acres. Each person who takes up a farm of twenty acres becomes a part owner in the community property, which, however, will be non-negotiable.

"Here, now, is how the proposed colonization scheme has an advantage over everything else ever proposed. A man takes one of the twenty-acre farms. He can do with that anything he pleases. In the colonists, grouped around in a circle, with atores, schools, meeting places, and all the acommodations and means of enjoyment and recreation to be found in the city. A man gets a house, located in the central plat, with his twenty-acre farm. He can live in that or he can go and live on his farm if he wants. But the advantage of living with all the other colonists requires no argument to be seen. He will be with his friends and he-can enjoy their society. Without the circle of 108 residence lots will be some 170 acres of public pasturage and garden, all part of the community plat of 360 acres. We have it figured down that 108 families can make a living from this property, so that all the product of the farms will be clear profit."

This is the plan upon which the unemployed are to be farmed out. It is not at all new in idea of village residence owners of outlying farms: that is an old notion quite beautiful in theory but commonly held to be impracticable at this stage of the world's progress. But we do not intend to discuss that feature; it is not the most illusive. What strikes us as the most unsound part of the general proposition is that i during the week, the poultry-dealer car changes in the prices of his produce. The one or two weeks earlier or later, or be a trifle more or less than expected, but the average for the year will scarcely vary on Selecting Fowls for Special Results (George H. Northup in Southern Cultivator:) Every one has a proference in regard to the breed which he will keep, but each poultry-keeper should be guided by circumstances as well as taste in making his choice, for the success of ultry industries depends very largely on the wise selection of a breed with refer-There is no variety of fowls in which every specimen is in all respects just of the grocery counter. The idea is preposterous.

Is, then, agriculture so rude an art that it requires no knowledge, no skill, no teaching of observation or experience? No one who knows aught of agriculture would hold such a notion for a moment. Those who know agriculture best know that it is one of the most intricate and difficult of the arts. It is true that those bred to farming are able to succeed upon what the casual observer might consider a low endowment of intelligence and clumsy handicraft, but the casual observer does not know how practically wise in certain directions these undemonstrative men arc. They may seem green and stupid when they come to the city's lures and snares, but the farmer on his land is like the sailor on his ship—able, competent and effective. The city man, even one bred to the hardest toll, is as much out of place on the farm is the farmer on the city payement. every specimen is in all respects just like every other of its kind, either in points of usefulness or external appearance. The practical poultryman needs to select each individual of his flock for each coming year, with reference to the qualities that are most desirable to his particular business, as carefully as the fancier does with regard to the points of excellence recommended by the adopted standard of his breed. Due regard should always be given to all the distinguishing features of the breed, some of which, though of secondary importance in themselves, are still important, because they indicate close conformity of the fowl possessing them to the accepted standard of his race. But it may be answered, cannot thes men learn farming Of course they can, in time, if they have the patience, and are contented to strive for the meager rewards of ordinary, small-scale farming. But wh is to feed them and their families while they learn? Who is to teach them in a colony of ignoramuses? Who is to meet the losses resulting from bad mistakes and as desirable breeders for next season as much as any quality they can show. But hens that are now just beginning to moult are not at all apt to make good winter layers, because they will not have finished before very cold weather comes on, and few, if any such, begin laying before spring. Early moulting is another desirable quality in a breeding bird, as such a tendency may be transmitted to the offspring as well as any other.

Early pullets are always preferable to late ones for winter laying, other things being equal, but it is not always best to reject late chicks of all kinds on this account. Late hatched chicks of a rapid-growing variety are often a valuable acquisition, and a breeder who has a few choice fowls of such a variety cannot afford to stop hatching their eggs because the season is late. As long as there is time enough left for the chicks to get old enough to endure the cold weather, before it comes, it is safe enough to hatch them, for they will get developed sufficiently to lay early in spring, and there is nothing to hinder them from developing into perfectly well matured fowls. They as often make winners of highest honors at the next fall and winter shows as earlier ones.

Slow-growing varieties of chicks should be disposed of at market as soon as they are old enough, unless they were hatched late, and they will never make good specimens. bad seasons
Of all ways to get city people into agriculture, except they be people of means who can employ skilled assistants, we regard the colony plan the worst. Every farming community can absorb and educate a certain number of greenhorns by the force of precept and example, and overthe-fence admonitions, and if the newcomers have any decent ambition and liking for the life, they may succeed. But to move green city people, in masses, to agricultural undertakings, and isolate them from adjacent farmers, as the plan proposes, is, it seems to me, the most impracticable proposition of the generation.

There be orange-growers and orangegrowers even in Florida. John B. Stetson, the wealthy hat man of Philade, phia, has a forty-acre grove near De Land. Mr. Stetson gives his orchard plenty of fertilizers, and the result the past year is given at 17,000 boxes, showing a net profit of $12,000 over all expenses. Mr. Stetson says he finds much profit in growing granges in Florida.

For years the doctor had been afflicted with heart disease, and his death from that cause has several times been imminent, but the attack which came upon him some weeks ago was reinforced by dropsy, and it was the latter disease which finally killed him. Dr. Newton has been closely identified with many of the most important development enterprises in connection with East Los Angeles, and leaves a host of friends. This will, in a measure, appease citizens who have been complaining of the delay in restoring the streets to their proper state, but residents of North Sichel street still find it next to impossible to navigate outside of their own front yards, almost the entire width of the narrow street being taken up with heaps of stones and material from these same sewers.

INSULTED HIS TYPEWRITER.

An Insurance Agent in a Bad Light-Severely Punished. Horatio Haskell, local agent for the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, was assaulted in his office in the Bradbury building yesterday mornig by J. T. Smith, a well-known resident of Pasadena, for having grossly insulted his type-writer, the latter's daughter.

From the satement of the affair made by Mr. Smith it appears that his daug-ter, Mrs. E. M. Dakin, recently entered Haskell's employ as his typewriter. Yester, Mrs. E. M. Dakin, recently entered Haskell's employ as his typewriter. Yesterday afternoon as she was sitting in the office Haskell made an improper proposal to her and grossly insulted her. She naturally resented his conduct and after informing him that she would no longer work for such a person, left the office. Yesterday morning she met her father upon Spring street and informed him of Haskell's conduct. Acting under his instructions she called upon Haskell and demanded her salary, which was promptly paid. Shortly afterwards Mr. Smith visited Haskell, and, introducing himself curtly, proceeded to pummel the insurance man in the most approved style, much to the amazement of several gentlemen who happened to be present on Jusiness, Haskell, who is a soft-spoken, well-preserved man about 40 years of age, is a prominent member of the Baptist Church. This is not the first charge of a similar nature which has been made against him, at least one young lady having thrown up her position in his office of late.

Haskell called at The Times office last evening and denied the story of the affair related by Smith. He stated that he never insuited Mrs. Dakin, and that any inquiries he made were from proper motives.

He says he did not question her further than he would any other person under the circumstances, and did not say to her anything that could be construed as an imputation on her character, or what might not be said with propriety to any lady, and added that she did not leave his office on account of anything that was said by him.

Gen. d. R. Mathews stated that the matter was daily assuming a more tangithe shape, and that the outlook was most encouraging. He had reasons for the belief that when the necessary $85,000 had been raised it would not be necessary to go to Chicago or elsewhere to find the capital to build the hotel, but that it would be forthcoming right here in Los Angeles. He was not at liberty, however, to state what those reasons were for the present.

PASADENA, June 1. — (Special Correspondence.) The Republican primaries will be held in Pasadena today (Saturday) to elect thirty-three delegates to the Los Angeelect thirty-three delegates to the Los Angeles county convention, which meets June 7. Since the retirement of Gen. Sheldon from the Congressional fight, no particular local issues have been at stake, and so little interest has been manifested in the personnel of the home delegation that it was not deemed necessary to hold caucus meetings. The several wards have handed in the following names to the County Central Committeemen to be voted for as delegates:

First ward—W. S. Lacey, T. P. Lukens, F. P. Boynton, T. D. Allin, Fordyce Grinnell, J. B. Hughes, Calvin Hartwell.

Second ward—J. S. Cox, J. K. Kelly, S. J. Edwards, Ed Lockett, J. H. Mertiam, P. J. Cook, J. R. Slater, W. W. Benedict, P. O. Prince.

Third ward—A. L. Hamilton, Barrandin W.

winter Fair will cease after June 10, advancing to the regular fare, it will probably act as a spur-to all those who had-intended to visit San Francisco and the fair a little later on in the season, and cause them to make the start earlier than they would have otherwise done. It will, however, not be in time for the majority of the school teachers of this section of the State, as the schools as a general thing do not close until after this date.

It seems that some miscreant apparently a barefoot not fully grown, attempted to steal a shetlandpo ny from its owner in this city Thursday night, as tracks of this description were noticeable around the barn, the vehicle and harness wheeled outside but left there, and the pony found hitched east of town about a mile and a half, this morning by the City Marshal. It does appear that at such a time as this when anyone can get a horse for the keepings, that only a linatic would attempt to steal one, especially as small an animal as a Shetland pony, be he considered ever so valuable.

If any seeking a home where church and school privileges can be had, he need go no farther than Pomona with her musay schools, colleges and churches and church organizations of some eighteen or twenty different sects, one of which, the Methodist, now, has a membership of 523, according to its flew, church directory just issued, fifty-four of whom have annexed themselves within the past three Sabbaths, and that, too, twenty-three of them by letter, evidencing the fact that they come from other points more or less recently to cast their lot with the people of this growing community.

The Woman's Reform Dress Club will meet at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon in McComas' Hall.

It is believed that Pomona will have a crop of apricots this season that will veigh upward of 3000 tons. The trees in the well-kept apricot orchards are so full of young green fruit that it would be almost an impossibility to stick or foster any more-fruit on the boughs. There is good reason to think that $30 and over per ton

RIVERSIDE, June 1.—(Special Correspondence.) The funds of the county are getting in an alarming low state. In fact, the county fathers are in quandary as to how they can make both ends meet until the next assessment becomes available. Meanwhile, in the county offices, work is piling up very rapidly, for some one to do sometime. This is because of the decision of the board to the effect that the principals in office must see that all the work of their respective offices is done for the salaries paid them. Of course, most of them are unable to pay deputies out of the meager salaries they receive, and consequently the work goes undone. In the Recorder's office the instruments are received for filing, but very little filing and copying are done. The Tax Collector finds it absolutely impessible to do his work, and says he must have assistance or resign. It is so throughout, the county offices with some few exceptions.

The attention of the Superior Court was occupied today by the case of Louise E. Allen vs. the Ploneer Lumber Company, to quiet title to several pieces of property located in South Riverside, Riverside and San Bernardino.

Judgment was granted the plaintiff today for the sum of $564 in the case of the Perris Valley Bank against A. M. Irish et al.

The sale of property upon which city taxes are delinquent will be begun by Marshall F. P. Wilson the first of the week. There is about $500 delinquent, which is but little over half the amount due at the time of the first publication of the delinquent list. By a horizontal cut in the salaries of the teachers to be employed in the city schools, and the consolidation of the schools in the Thirteenth-street building, from four to three, the school board hopes to save nearly $3000 next year.

SAN BERNARDINO, June 1.—(Special Correspondence.) The County Supervisors, after rejecting the city's proposition respecting the furnishing of water to the County Hospital, and in turn having their proposition rejected by the City Trustees, passed the following resolution last evening before adjournment:

"Resolved, that the chairman (Victor) and Supervisor Randall be appointed a committee to secure additional facilities for supplying water for the hospital buildings and grounds, and this committee is authorized to contract for the sinking of an artesian well, if found necessary, not to exceed seven (7) inches in diameter, near the County Hospital, and for a gasoline engine and pump with the necessary connections for forcing water to a sufficient height for domestic and irrigation purposes; and also for the erection of a tower and tank of suitable height and capacity for containing water, in order to obtain sufficient force for the purpose stated, and, if thought necessary, to construct one or more cisterna for the surplus water."

The resolution was presented by Supervisor A. B. Ruggles, and was carried by a vote of 4 to 1, Supervisor Turner voting in the negative. This will mean a water supply for the hospital entirely independent of the city.

(Times-Index:) San Bernardino county will soon be thoroughly equipped for hunting criminals with bloodhounds. Under Sheriff Kink has just secured a fine young hound from Charles Haskell of Los Angeles. His original purchases in that line, 'Sallie' and 'Rattler,'' are just coming into their prime. One of their pups has been secured by Deputy Sheriff F. R. Keyes and taken to Needles, where it will be used to ferret out 'Indian ciriminals. Deputy Sheriff Morgan of Colton has secured one, which will be used to hunt down the perpetrators of the mysterious petty crimes which have been quite frequent in that locality for some time past.

Heavy Damage Sult Against a Los Angeles Firm.

SANTA BARBARA, June 1.—(Special Correspondence.) H. G. Taunton, formerly a partner of H. C. E. Spence, doing business under the name of the Santa Barbara Music Company, has commenced a sult in the Superior Court against A. G. Bartlett and C. G. Bartlett of Los Angeles, for the sum of $10,000, and against W. S. Low and A. W. Palmer for the sum of $1000. He alleges that the Bartletts, who commenced suit against the company last July, and who issued a writ of attachment to recover the sum of $2253.04 alleged to be due them, knew that the firm was not indebted to them in that sum, and that A. G. Bartlett swore falsely in making the amdavit to procure the writ of attachment. That the suit was commenced maliciously and with intent to ruin the good will of the firm, and to deprive them of the privilege of carrying on the business. That by reason of the commencement of the suit and the issuance of the writ of attachment, and the retention of the personal property, the good will of the business is damaged in the sum of $3000, and that the plaintiff was deprived of the right of doing business for six months, whereby he was damaged in the sum of $3000, and that the plaintiff was deprived of the right of doing business for six months, whereby he was damaged in the sum of $3000 exemplary damages, and for costs of suit. He also alleges that W. S. Low and A. W. SANTA MONICA, June 1.—(Special Correspondence.) When the polls opened Friday for the election of school trustees there was no lack of interest to call out an unusually large vote. Other interests than those voiced by the citizens' caucus that named H. A. Winslow for the position were represented by an opposition candidate in the person of R. P. Elliott. There was a good deal of quiet work going on from the time the polls opened until the sun went down, and the result was to call out a very large vote, for a school election, though a very small one for anything else. The result was the election of Elliott by a vote of 233 to 185 for Winslow. Total vote, 419.

THE . . . "BOOK OF THE BUILDERS"

Is the only authentic history of the Fair, and is written by the men who designed, built and operated it.

Then and Now.

Men still in middle age can remember the days when architectural development in this country was at a stand-still, and no suggestion of the birth of a new architectural order had appeared.

Emerson says it is a long step from the gorilla to the gentleman. Surely we can say the same of the progression of architecture in the last thirty years—from the terrible vulgarity and meaningless decorations of the early six ties to the classic refinement and beauty of the White Palaces at the World's Fair.

All this and much more touching the progress of the world in the last fifty years is unfolded to the fortunate reader of the "Book of the Builders."

> And not alone of architecture, but of every other profession, science and craft was this progress clearly de-noted by the great Exposition at Chicago.
> It is because of these instructive feat ures that the "Book of the Build-ers" must be regarded as one of the great educational works of the present decade. It crystallizes the lessons of the Fair, preserving them is permanent form, so that they may be digested and assimilated by the reader. We hope that no one of our readers has failed to grasp the significance of this important publication, and register his determination to secure each Section as it appears. Section as it appears.

A deserved official recognition of a gallant officer.

Co C Mustired Out

An order was received at N.G.C. head-quarters in this city yesterday from Gov. Markham, commander-in-chief of the National Guard, mustering out of service Co. C of this city, the reason given being that the company, of which G. W. Glowner is captain, failed to show the requisite number, thirty-two men, on parade at the last annual inspection in March. There are about 115 applications, which have long been on file with the Adjutant-General, to be mustered into service, and a new company will be at once organized.

PARTY AT TROPICO. There was a pretty little party at Tro-pico on Tuesday evening, given by Misses Jennie Hibben and Sala West, at the home of the latter's parents on Central avenue. The affair was given in honor of Miss Jennie's twentieth and Miss Sala's nineteenth birthdays, and was most en-joyable, both young ladies receiving nu-merous beautiful mementoes of the occasion.

The rooms were artistically decorated with flowers, the spacious parlor being especially attractive in Marshal Niel roses and ferns.

The lawns were illuminated with Chinese lanterns, and every effort made to ensure the pleasure of the seventy or more guests who were present.

The evening was spent in games, dancing and pleasant conversation, refreshments being also served and partaken of with relish. At a late hour the guests departed, voting the affair one of the events of the season, and showering lavish compliments upon the two young ladies who had acted the part of hostesses so successfully.
